GERMANS CAPTURE MEZIERES VILLLAGE

British Counter Attacks Yield a Number of Prisoners---British Cavalry Getting Into Action With Good Results.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, March 30—Mezieres, south of the Somme river, has been captured by the Germans.

"South of the Somme river the enemy's attacks yesterday at Demium and Mezieres resulted in the capture of the latter," the war office stated today.

The British immediately launched strong counter attacks and captured a number of Germans prisoners.

The Germans were fought to a standstill north of the Somme and were able to make only a few weak efforts.

There was sharp fighting in the Demium sector (On the Amiens-Noyon road) but all the efforts of the Germans in that district failed with heavy losses.

Field Marshal Haig in his report to the war office praised the gallantry with which the mounted and unmounted British cavalry men fought in repulsing the German attacks.

"Only local actions occurred north of the Somme river," the war office stated. "South of the Somme the enemy's attack on Friday afternoon at Demium and Mezieres resulted in the capture of the latter place.

"The British made counter assaults which secured for them a number of German prisoners.

"All attempts by the Germans to take Demium failed after sharp fighting.

"During the week British cavalry, both mounted and unmounted, fought with great gallantry in repulsing enemy attacks."

In the numerous engagements heavy losses were inflicted upon the Germans.

(Mezieres lies about 12 miles southeast of Amiens, which is now generally regarded as the Germans objective. It is near the point of the salient which the ten days fighting in the German offensive has pressed into the Allied front in Picardy.)

AMERICAN ENGINEERS IN BATTLE OF PICARDY

Railway Engineers Who Distinguished Themselves at Cambrai Are Earning New Laurels in Present Battle.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With The American Army In France, March 29, (9 P. M.)—Fresh British and French troops are constantly arriving on the Picardy battle-front to take up the battle when the proper moment arrives, according to information received here today. The exhausted German soldiers are reported to be digging themselves in and consolidating their positions.

The information given out by the British war office that American troops are fighting shoulder to shoulder with British and French refers to American railway engineers and American officers from all branches of the service, attached to the British army for instruction.

Emphasis is laid upon the valorous performance of the engineers who received their baptism of fire at Cambrai last year and it is shown that the American officers carried out their volunteer duties with the greatest bravery.

The Americans are more optimistic since the latest official statements, even the Germans themselves admitting that they had been stopped.

On every side the question is raised whether the drive is collapsing or whether the battle is now in the transitory stage which always divides the first and second phases of a great struggle.

News that the German drive was arrested caused the most intense enthusiasm among the Americans because it "insures our getting into the big doings"

The Americans unanimously believe that a resumption of the battle on a great scale is imminent before the operations stagnate again into trench warfare. All are confident that the superior French generalship and British doggedness will smash the enemy, who has already lost heavily from his best troops. The present breathing space is regarded as temporary, while the enemy brings up supplies and reorganizes his shattered divisions.

But time is also invaluable to the Allies for the disposition of their forces in preparation for a renewal of the battle. This offensive is compared with the Marne when the Germans swung forward almost within sight of victory, but lacked momentum enough to carry them through.

PARCEL POST TO FRANCE RESTRICTED

Postmaster DeWitt has received the following order, an account of which appeared in The Freeman a few days ago:

Restrictions on Mailings of Parcels to American Expeditionary Forces.

Order No. 1259.

Postmasters must secure the assurance of the sender in each case that all the articles contained in the parcel are sent at the addressee's approved written request, and that such request is enclosed in the parcel, by requiring the sender to place on the wrapper of the parcel under his name and address the following endorsement:

"This parcel contains only articles sent at approved request of addressee, which is inclosed."

The approved written request shall be enclosed in the parcel.

Parcels containing articles not being sent in accordance with such approved written request shall not be accepted for mailing. Such parcels when offered for mailing shall be returned to the sender.

The foregoing order and instructions are issued at the request of the War Department.

The Post Office Department believes that this action is prompted by military necessity and that the public will cheerfully acquiesce in it. Postmasters are hereby instructed to enforce it rigidly.

TROUT SEASON OPENS APRIL 6

The fishing season for brook trout in New York state will open on Saturday, April 6. The Conservation Commission has received a large number of inquiries indicating that many anglers seem to be under the misconception that the season opens on April first, and has issued a warning to correct this impression.

The law states that the open season for brook trout commences the first Saturday in April which this year falls on the sixth. Fishermen are advised by the commission to take notice of this provision, as "ignorance of the law is no excuse," and game protectors have no choice in proceeding against violators.

The legal length of trout that may be taken is six inches, and a person may take not more than ten pounds in one day.

The law further provides that no trout may be taken through the ice, so that waters which are still frozen over may not be fished in for trout even though the date be later than the first Saturday in April.

SET YOUR CLOCK ONE HOUR AHEAD

Before Hopping Into Bed Tonight---If You Forget You Will Find Yourself an Hour Behind Rest of Country.

Just before you hop into bed tonight and draw the bedclothes up around you don't forget to set all your time pieces in the house one hour ahead or otherwise when you awake Sunday morning you will find yourself exactly one hour behind the rest of the country, for Easter Sunday the daylight saving bill goes into effect and all clocks all over the country are set one hour ahead and remain an hour fast until October rolls around.

All church services in the city will be held at the usual hour as shown by the face of the clock although actually the services will start one hour earlier than last Sunday. Trains, working hours, meals and everything else that pertains to human needs will be governed by the time as shown by the clocks of the country, and while it may take a day to adjust oneself to conditions the daylight saving plan will be found to work out all right.

ULSTER CO. SOCIETY LANDS BIG INDUSTRY

American Grenade Loading Company Comes to Port Ewen as Direct Result Of Banquet of Ulster County Society in New York.

That the American Grenade Loading Company now located on the Van Aken farm in Port Ewen is there by reason of the Ulster County Society in the City of New York is admitted by all who are familiar with the circumstances under which the project was brought to the vicinity of Kingston. At the banquet of the Ulster County Society held in the Hotel Biltmore on February 9, at Table 9 were seated the men who were instrumental in landing the company in Kingston. The outcome of the conversation at the table was that a conference followed in one of the New York hotels shortly afterward with the result that the way was paved and the obstacles overcome, resulting in the company finally deciding to go to Kingston. One of the leading men in the conference yesterday met Joseph Drake, secretary of the society, on lower Broadway, New York city, and told him he was responsible, due to the seating arrangement of the tables at the recent banquet of the society, in getting the men together who were successful in causing the industry to go to Kingston, and stated if it had not been for the Ulster County Society in the City of New York the Grenade Company would have been located in New Jersey, as one of the officers of the company stated to him that arrangements had been practically completed for the location of the plant in New Jersey.

This industry for Kingston means that Ulster county will do its bit in the war. About 75 men are now working at the new plant, constructing buildings comprising the first unit and also putting in a railroad siding to accommodate about forty cars. This siding will be finishd in a few days. About 450 men will be employed as soon as the buildings are erected, and this means that most of the men will live in Kingston, which will add greatly to the life and business of the Old Colonial.

A lot of good hard work has resulted in forming an Ulster County Society in New York, which comprises men who have achieved things in life, and they are always ready to do what they can to help further enterprises in locating in Ulster county. Every man in the Ulster County Society has a warm spot in his heart for the old county, and the members will be glad to know that the society was an important factor in getting to Kingston an enterprise which will help in a great way to making Kingston larger.

STREET FLUSHER WAS BUSY TODAY

The street flusher was busy this morning flushing the brick pavement downtown of the winter's accumulation of dirt. Some of the city streets also are being swept by members of the street department.

Superintendent Van Keuren stated this morning that owing to the fact that there was still some frost in the ground no preparations had been made yet to take up any street repairing, but that would be done later.

It was reported to the board of public works this morning by the police department that the catch basin on John street, near the State Bank had fallen in.

At Bear Mountain Park.

Work at Bear Mountain Park in preparation for the season is now underway.

FROST LEAVING LEAKS DEVELOP

Now that the frost is beginning to leave the ground numberless small leaks are developing in the water system, and the water department is being kept busy locating the leaks and making repairs. While some of the leaks are in the water mains of the city the majority are found in the service pipes.

It was reported to the water board this morning that the fire hydrant at Fair St. and Maiden Lane was leaking and also that water was coming through the brick pavement at 730 Broadway.

This has been an exceptionally hard winter on the water system of the city, but Kingston has been fortunate in many respects as the majority of the residents have been supplied with water all winter long. The past winter has also proven an expensive one for the water department in making repairs to breaks. Not only has it been expensive to the water department but even more so to the householders who have had their service pipes frozen and had to have them thawed out.

TROLLEY ROAD MEN WANT MORE PAY

It is expected that the question of whether the motormen and conductors of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company would strike Monday or not would be settled today. As told in The Freeman at the time the trolley men submitted a petition asking for an increase in pay. They were receiving 27 cents an hour and wanted 33 cents. It is stated that the men have been offered 31 cents an hour by the company. It is understood that there would be a meeting held today at which time the matter would be threshed out.

LOCAL OPTION MOTION MONDAY

There was no hearing today before Judge Nichols at Albany in the order to show cause why the petition for a local option election in Kingston should not be vacated, but the entire matter was adjourned until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock when it will come up before Judge Hasbrouck at Hudson. The order was secured by F. W. Brooks for John F. Irwin who has a saloon on lower Hasbrouck avenue and who claims that two hundred of the names on the petition are irregular.

MUCH CRITICISM AT FARM MEETING

Held at the Court House Today Under the Direction of the Federation of Agriculture—Agriculture Officials Governor Whitman and Others Handed "Bouquets."

A large amount of criticism was directed this morning at Food Administrator Hoover, Governor Whitman, the personnel of the state and federal department of agriculture by the speakers at the mass meeting held at the court house here, under the direction of the new Federation of Agriculture, which is "agin the government" generally.

"Bouquets" flew thick and fast and charges of incompetency were very much in evidence. The speakers said that the farmers were dictated to by the powers that be, but were given but little consideration and co-operation.

The meeting bore a decided political atmosphere and was well attended.

The committee in charge was F. W. Vail, Arthur Benenson, J. W. Pincus, W. D. Elliott and R. R. Talmage.

The meeting was opened at 11 o'clock by F. W. Vail, who stated that its purpose was to acquaint the farmers of Ulster county with the purposes and activities of the Federation of Agriculture. Mr. Vail said that the time has come for a non-partisan organization of farmers. Farmers are asked to labor and provide, but the powers that be give little consideration to the farmers, and Mr. Vail intimated that some men drawing large salaries, appointed to help the farmers in their problems, are not as competent as they should be.

Address of Mr. Strivings.

S. L. Strivings of Rochester, president of the Federation of Agriculture, was the next speaker. He stated that farmers should unite in a sane, intelligent and patriotic service; not only for themselves, but for all the other interests for the good welfare of our country. The Federation of Agriculture was organized to help the farmers meet their problems in a practical and systematic manner. The Federation aims to co-operate with the other farm organizations. The farmers have proved they are not slackers, and they are doing their share to help the country. When the clouds of war have rolled away the three paramount issues that will face this country are labor, capital and agriculture. Farmers must do their own constructive thinking, so that agriculture may best serve our country in the age in which we live.

He severely criticized the way our agriculture problems are being handled.

Mr. Bush Speaks.

Seth T. Bush of Morton, N. Y., secretary of the federation, gave an outline of the circumstances leading up to the formation of the organization.

Mr. Bush denied that the federation was primarily a political organization and he said that no politician had anything to do with its formation.

Incidentally, Mr. Bush said that it had been rumored that John J. Dillon, former commissioner of foods and markets of New York state, had much to do with the formation of the federation. Mr. Bush said that this rumor was not true, that the federation was organized before Dillon knew anything about it.

Mr. Bush said, however, in substance, that the farmers should have an intelligent working knowledge of politics.

Mr. Bush said that this meeting was a protest against the government taking it for granted that farm production must be maintained, without giving the producer any consideration.

Farmers are compelled to sell their products according to the prices fixed by the powers that be; so the farmers ought to have something to say about the price they have to pay for what they buy.

"This meeting is a protest of the farmers," said Mr. Bush. "They are tired of being exploited; tired of being misrepresented and misjudged.

"The farmers will stand loyalty by this government and will stick to the bitter end."

Mr. Bush closed his address with an eloquent tribute to the American farmers.

Address of Prof. Burkett.

Professor Charles E. Burkett, editor of the American Agriculturist, was the next speaker.

He also arraigned the present agricultural conditions in this state and country, and intimated that incompetent men were directing the affairs of the agricultural department.

He urged the farmers to co-operate for their own protection and so that they could best serve their country.

Mr. Burkett let loose his guns of criticism on Food Administrator Hoover, the personnel of the agricultural department, and other officials.

At one o'clock the meeting was adjourned until this afternoon.

BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

Another costly failure has marked the tremendous efforts of the Germans to break the Anglo-French front between the Somme and Oise rivers.

Powerful assaults are being delivered by the Germans against the French front between Moreuil and Lassigny along the southwestern edge of their salient in the Montdidier sector, but all have been brilliantly shattered by the stout hearted French troops.

French reserves were brought up along this twenty-five mile stretch of battle zone and the advancing German ranks were hurled back with heavy losses.

Along that section of the line held by the British, the Germans exerted their hardest pressure east and southeast of the British base of Amiens.

South of the Somme, along the Noyon-Amiens roads the Germans launched a series of thrusts in the Mezieres-Demuim sector. The British were pressed back from Mezieres but the defenses of Demuim held like a stone wall and all German attempts to capture the village ended in failure.

The Mezieres-Demuim sector lies at the apex of the German salient, where their lines approach nearest to Amiens. They are about twelve miles distant from Amiens, against which city they have been essaying a converging movement.

North of the Somme river the Germans were so weakened by their futile blows against Arras and Vimy Ridge that they were unable to continue their assaults in force.

In his official report Field Marshal Haig said that only local fighting had taken place in that district.

There was a press report that the French had fought their way back into Noyon, after a desperate struggle, but it has not been officially confirmed.

Now that the post of generalissimo has been tendered to General Foch, the brilliant French strategist, a steady increase of strength in the counter offensive of the Anglo-French armies is looked for by British and French military critics.

This was the tenth day of the German offensive and it is not yet plain whether or not the German high command plans a drive on some other part of the western front in conjunction with the present gigantic battle. So far the Germans have bent all their efforts towards forcing a wedge between the British and French armies—an operation that has proved a signal failure.

FATHER ROCHE IS CALLED TO SERVICE

He Has Been Appointed Lieutenant Chaplain in the National Army—Studied at St. Alphonsus Monastery at Esopus.

The Rev. Thomas B. Roche, C. S. S. R., professor at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, has been appointed lieutenant chaplain in the National Army, and has been assigned to Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.

Father Roche was born at Rochester, N. Y., thirty-two years ago. After his college course he studied for five years at Alphonsus Monastery, and July 2, 1911, was ordained to the holy priesthood by the Right Rev. Bishop Cusack. Later he was transferred to Annapolis, Md., where he remained for six months.

From Annapolis he went to St. Mary's College, Northeast, Pa., as professor. He planned to study for three years in Rome, but had only completed one year of study when war broke out and he was called home.

He returned to Northeast, where he had charge of the parish. In 1915 he returned to Esopus, where he remained up to the present time as professor of philosophy. He speaks several languages. At Esopus he was assistant, having charge of the work among the Italians.

The parishioners and friends of Father Roche wish him Godspeed and a safe return. He is known to possess a generous heart and a kind disposition, and he will render cheer and consolation to our boys in the service.

PIEKEN WILL GO IN PLACE OF MIERS

Edgar Miers, Order No. 528, injured his knee while playing indoor baseball at the armory several evenings ago and his knee is in such shape that he cannot go to Camp Dix on Friday of next week.

The local board for Division No. 1 has ordered Henry Alexander Pieken, Order No. 568, for service and he will go with the other members of the next contingent to Camp Dix on Friday in place of Miers.

Armory Flag at Half Mast.

The flag on the armory has been placed at half mast out of respect to Ulysses French, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. French of Franklin street, who died of pneumonia overseas on March 27. It will remain at half mast for three days.

RUSH OUR WHOLE ARMY TO FRANCE

Washington's Reply to Lloyd-George Appeal is in Substance "It is Up to You."

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, March 30.—The entire army in training in the United States will be transported to France without delay. The speed with which these units—regulars, Federalized Guardsmen and National Army divisions—are to be shipped overseas rests with the allies. Paris and London, with the complete records of needed shipments of munitions, food and the like at their disposal, will decide what additional transports can be diverted to troop movements. Then the men, now practically all trained sufficiently to participate in open fighting and many of them with combat training experience, will be shoved forward as fast as the transportation problem will permit.

That is the reply of the United States to the request of the British premier, David Lloyd-George, voiced through Ambassador Earl Reading in New York city two nights ago. The United States has loyally accepted the naming of General Foch, the great French strategist, as the general in command of the coordinated military operations on the west front. Already General Pershing has accepted a position subordinate to him. The American army in France, all divisions, combat as well as constructive, are at Foch's disposal. And military officials here who know what it all means, say that the result of this must soon be in evidence.

From now on General Foch will be responsible for all operations in the west. He will have the assistance of the French and British commanders as well as of General Pershing. And he will be able to meet every German move with a mobile force of troops who can be utilized wherever needed regardless of the particular nationality of the men that are in the particular sector chosen for operations.

German strategy for the first time in this war is to be met with allied strategy. Instead of separate units doing about as they please the entire allied forces in the west will be operated as a gigantic army. Reserves will be as available to Foch as they have been in the past available to the German high command. And officers here who know all that is involved declare that this action alone has shortened the war at least a year.

The news of the appointment of Foch today overshadowed all else, even the great conflict still in progress. It was believed here that it might be two or three days yet before the effect of his appointment will be observable in the reports from the front.

Generally speaking officers said today that the war reports were satisfactory. The German gains south of the Somme are small they say, while at all other points they have either been halted or held back. The French retain all positions near Montdidier despite the fact that the Germans are reported attacking with six divisions of reserves.

Boys Stole Coal.

Detective Goodsell of the West Shore railroad, had several boys before Judge Schirick this morning charged with stealing coal from coal cars. This has been a practice carried on all winter by boys. There were no arrests made and the court warned the boys they must keep away from railroad property.

This has been an exceptionally hard winter on the water system of the city, but Kingston has been fortunate in many respects as the majority of the residents have been supplied with water all winter long. The past winter has also proven an expensive one for the water department in making repairs to breaks. Not only has it been expensive to the water department but even more so to the householders who have had their service pipes frozen and had to have them thawed out.

TROLLEY ROAD MEN WANT MORE PAY

It is expected that the question of whether the motormen and conductors of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company would strike Monday or not would be settled today. As told in The Freeman at the time the trolley men submitted a petition asking for an increase in pay. They were receiving 27 cents an hour and wanted 32 cents. It is stated that the men have been offered 31 cents an hour by the company. It is understood that there would be a meeting held today at which time the matter would be threshed out.

LOCAL OPTION MOTION MONDAY

There was no hearing today before Judge Nichols at Albany in the order to show cause why the petition for a local option election in Kingston should not be vacated but the entire matter was adjourned until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock when it will come up before Judge Hasbrouck at Hudson. The order was secured by F. W. Brooks for John F. Irwin who has a saloon on lower Hasbrouck avenue and who claims that two hundred of the names on the petition are irregular.

MUCH CRITICISM AT FARM MEETING

Held at the Court House Today Under the Direction of the Federation of Agriculture—Agriculture Officials Governor Whitman and Others Handed "Bouquets."

A large amount of criticism was directed this morning at Food Administrator Hoover, Governor Whitman, the personnel of the state and federal department of agriculture by the speakers at the mass meeting held at the court house here, under the direction of the new Federation of Agriculture, which is "agin the government" generally.

"Bouquets" flew thick and fast and charges of incompetency were very much in evidence. The speakers said that the farmers were dictated to by the powers that be, but were given but little consideration and co-operation.

The meeting bore a decided political atmosphere and was well attended.

The committee in charge was F. W. Vail, Arthur Beneuson, J. W. Pincus, W. D. Elliott and R. R. Talmage.

The meeting was opened at 11 o'clock by F. W. Vail, who stated that its purpose was to acquaint the farmers of Ulster county with the purposes and activities of the Federation of Agriculture. Mr. Vail said that the time has come for a non-partisan organization of farmers. Farmers are asked to labor and provide, but the powers that be give little consideration to the farmers, and Mr. Vail intimated that some men drawing large salaries, appointed to help the farmers in their problems, are not as competent as they should be.

Address of Mr. Strivings.

S. L. Strivings of Rochester, president of the Federation of Agriculture, was the next speaker. He stated that farmers should unite in a sane, intelligent and patriotic service; not only for themselves, but for all the other interests for the good welfare of our country. The Federation of Agriculture was organized to help the farmers meet their problems in a practical and systematic manner. The Federation aims to co-operate with the other farm organizations. The farmers have proved they are not slackers, and they are doing their share to help the country. When the clouds of war have rolled away the three paramount issues that will face this country are labor, capital and agriculture. Farmers must do their own constructive thinking, so that agriculture may best serve our country in the age in which we live.

He severely criticized the way our agriculture problems are being handled.

Mr. Bush Speaks.

Seth T. Bush of Morton, N. Y., secretary of the federation, gave an outline of the circumstances leading up to the formation of the organization.

Mr. Bush denied that the federation was primarily a political organization and he said that no politician had anything to do with its formation.

Incidentally, Mr. Bush said that it had been rumored that John J. Dillon, former commissioner of foods and markets of New York state, had much to do with the formation of the federation. Mr. Bush said that this rumor was not true, that the federation was organized before Dillon knew anything about it.

Mr. Bush said, however, in substance, that the farmers should have an intelligent working knowledge of politics.

Mr. Bush said that this meeting was a protest against the government taking it for granted that farm production must be maintained, without giving the producer any consideration.

Farmers are compelled to sell their products according to the prices fixed by the powers that be; so the farmers ought to have something to say about the price they have to pay for what they buy.

"This meeting is a protest of the farmers," said Mr. Bush. "They are tired of being exploited; tired of being misrepresented and misjudged.

"The farmers will stand loyally by this government and will stick to the bitter end."

Mr. Bush closed his address with an eloquent tribute to the American farmers.

Address of Prof. Burkett.

Professor Charles E. Burkett, editor of the American Agriculturist, was the next speaker.

He also arraigned the present agricultural conditions in this state and country, and intimated that incompetent men were directing the affairs of the agricultural department.

He urged the farmers to co-operate for their own protection and so that they could best serve their country.

Mr. Burkett let loose his guns of criticism on Food Administrator Hoover, the personnel of the agricultural department, and other officials.

At one o'clock the meeting was adjourned until this afternoon.

BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

Another costly failure has marked the tremendous efforts of the Germans to break the Anglo-French front between the Somme and Oise rivers.

Powerful assaults are being delivered by the Germans against the French front between Moreuil and Lassigny along the southwestern edge of their salient in the Montdidier sector, but all have been brilliantly shattered by the stout hearted French troops.

French reserves were brought up along this twenty-five mile stretch of battle zone and the advancing German ranks were hurled back with heavy losses.

Along that section of the line held by the British, the Germans exerted their hardest pressure east and southeast of the British base of Amiens.

South of the Somme, along the Noyon-Amiens roads the Germans launched a series of thrusts in the Mezieres-Demuim sector. The British were pressed back from Mezieres but the defenses of Demuim held like a stone wall and all German attempts to capture the village ended in failure.

The Mezieres-Demuim sector lies at the apex of the German salient, where their lines approach nearest to Amiens. They are about twelve miles distant from Amiens, against which city they have been essaying a converging movement.

North of the Somme river the Germans were so weakened by their futile blows against Arras and Vimy Ridge that they were unable to continue their assaults in force.

In his official report Field Marshal Haig said that only local fighting had taken place in that district.

There was a press report that the French had fought their way back into Noyon, after a desperate struggle, but it has not been officially confirmed.

Now that the post of generalissimo has been tendered to General Foch, the brilliant French strategist, a steady increase of strength in the counter offensive of the Anglo-French armies is looked for by British and French military critics.

This was the tenth day of the German offensive and it is not yet plain whether or not the German high command plans a drive on some other part of the western front in conjunction with the present gigantic battle. So far the Germans have bent all their efforts towards forcing a wedge between the British and French armies—an operation that has proved a signal failure.

FATHER ROCHE IS CALLED TO SERVICE

He Has Been Appointed Lieutenant Chaplain in the National Army—Studied at St. Alphonsus Monastery at Esopus.

The Rev. Thomas B. Roche, C. S. S. R., professor at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, has been appointed lieutenant, chaplain in the National Army, and has been assigned to Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.

Father Roche was born at Rochester, N. Y., thirty-two years ago. After his college course he studied for five years at Alphonsus Monastery, and July 2, 1911, was ordained to the holy priesthood by the Right Rev. Bishop Cusack. Later he was transferred to Annapolis, Md., where he remained for six months.

From Annapolis he went to St. Mary's College, Northeast, Pa., as professor. He planned to study for three years in Rome, but had only completed one year of study when war broke out and he was called home.

He returned to Northeast, where he had charge of the parish. In 1915 he returned to Esopus, where he remained up to the present time as professor of philosophy. He speaks several languages. At Esopus he was assistant, having charge of the work among the Italians.

The parishioners and friends of Father Roche wish him Godspeed and a safe return. He is known to possess a generous heart and a kind disposition, and he will render cheer and consolation to our boys in the service.

PIEKEN WILL GO IN PLACE OF MIERS

Edgar Miers, Order No. 528, injured his knee while playing indoor baseball at the armory several evenings ago and his knee is in such shape that he cannot go to Camp Dix on Friday of next week.

The local board for Division No. 1 has ordered Henry Alexander Pieken, Order No. 568, for service and he will go with the other members of the next contingent to Camp Dix on Friday in place of Miers.

Armory Flag at Half Mast.

The flag on the armory has been placed at half mast out of respect to Ulysses French, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. French of Franklin street, who died of pneumonia overseas on March 27. It will remain at half mast for three days.

RUSH OUR WHOLE ARMY TO FRANCE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, March 30.—The entire army in training in the United States will be transported to France without delay. The speed with which these units—regulars, Federalized Guardsmen and National Army divisions—are to be shipped overseas rests with the allies. Paris and London, with the complete records of needed shipments of munitions, food and the like at their disposal, will decide what additional transports can be diverted to troop movements. Then the men, now practically all trained sufficiently to participate in open fighting and many of them with combat training experience, will be shoved forward as fast as the transportation problem will permit.

That is the reply of the United States to the request of the British premier, David Lloyd-George, voiced through Ambassador Earl Reading in New York city two nights ago. The United States has loyally accepted the naming of General Foch, the great French strategist, as the general in command of the coordinated military operations on the west front. Already General Pershing has accepted a position subordinate to him. The American army in France, all divisions, combat as well as constructive, are at Foch's disposal. And military officials here who know what it all means, say that the result of this must soon be in evidence.

From now on General Foch will be responsible for all operations in the west. He will have the assistance of the French and British commanders as well as of General Pershing. And he will be able to meet every German move with a mobile force of troops who can be utilized wherever needed regardless of the particular nationality of the men that are in the particular sector chosen for operations.

German strategy for the first time in this war is to be met with allied strategy. Instead of separate units doing about as they please the entire allied forces in the west will be operated as a gigantic army. Reserves will be as available to Foch as they have been in the past available to the German high command. And officers here who know all that is involved declare that this action alone has shortened the war at least a year.

The news of the appointment of Foch today overshadowed all else, even the great conflict still in progress. It was believed here that it might be two or three days yet before the effect of his appointment will be observable in the reports from the front.

Generally speaking officers said today that the war reports were satisfactory. The German gains south of the Somme are small they say, while at all other points they have either been halted or held back. The French retain all positions near Monididier despite the fact that the Germans are reported attacking with six divisions of reserves.

Boys Stole Coal.

Detective Goodsell of the West Shore railroad, had several boys before Judge Schirick this morning charged with stealing coal from coal cars. This has been a practice carried on all winter by boys. There were no arrests made and the court warned the boys they must keep away from railroad property.

Savard & McCarthy, who have conducted a clothing and gentleman's furnishing store on Wall street for the past seven years, will close their store tonight and on Monday the fixtures will be shipped to Bristol, Conn., where a new store will be opened within a few weeks, which will be in charge of John E. McCarthy, who has been the popular and efficient manager of the Kingston store for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy will remain in town several days in order to pack their household furniture and ship it to Bristol. They leave Kingston with the best wishes of innumerable friends who regret to have them go elsewhere. During their residence here both Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy have been very active in the musical, dramatic and social life of Kingston. Shortly after coming to Kingston, Mr. McCarthy's dramatic ability was ascertained by the promoters of the Elks' Club minstrels and he was impressed to take an active part in that entertainment. Since then he has been instrumental in the success of minstrel and theatrical performances given by numerous societies and has acquitted himself with much credit. He has shown himself to be a singer of no mean ability.

Mrs. McCarthy, who is just as devoted to instrumental music as Mr. McCarthy is to vocal music, has appeared in numerous musical entertainments and has always found great favor with her audiences.

In business Mr. McCarthy has demonstrated exceptional ability and his business friends will regret equally with personal friends to have him leave Kingston. Although discontinuing the Kingston store, the company will continue to operate nine stores, the others being at Saratoga, Albany, Troy, N. Y., and Bridgeport, New Haven, New London, Middletown, Meriden and Bristol, Conn.

TEACHERS CAN HELP IN MAKING INDEX

Telegrams from the adjutant general urge local exemption boards to send the completed index cards of registrants who have been classified. This is necessary in order that the provost marshal general may proceed with work which is waiting in his office.

The work of carding the questionnaires was undertaken by the city teachers in every city who offered their services to the local exemption boards in order that the draft work might proceed rapidly. For the past two weeks the teachers have not volunteered their services which is probably due to the extra school work at this season.

Next week will be vacation week in the schools and the teachers will be at liberty to assist the local boards with the carding work. The assistance of anyone, whether a member of the teaching force or not, will be appreciated by the local boards who have been handicapped by the lack of volunteers in completing this important branch of the draft work.

The office of the local board for Division No. 1 is at the Ulster county surrogate's office, corner of Main and Fair streets, and the office of the local board for Division No. 2 is in the Hasbrouck building on Main street.

"I received my Christmas gift and it surely did come in handy. I am doing the same kind of work that I was doing. We have much better quarters than we had when we first came here. In your letter you asked me what I like to eat. I still have the same sweet tooth.

MEATLESS DAYS ARE SUSPENDED

Received from Washington:

Meatless days should be suspended for the next 30 days beginning today, due to unusual run of hogs to market and to shortage during the winter of storage capacity and overseas transportation and port facilities. There is a large supply of potatoes and milk and temporary removal of meat regulation should facilitate a large saving of bread stuff. This is not to be considered by consumer as departure from the general practice of conservation of all foods. The need of food on the other side and the need of food in America is as great as ever.

Food Administrator for Ulster County.

OLD-TIME BALL PLAYERS FAST FADING FROM GAME

Ball players who only a few years ago were starring every day on the diamonds in the big leagues are gradually fading away. Tom Leach was recently released by a minor league club and Harry Davis retired. And now "Wildfire" Schulte has been released by the Phillies.

Frank Schulte was a member of the old Cub machine when Frank Chance was its leader. For fifteen years Schulte, who batted left-handed, was noted as the champion right-field fence buster of the league.

"Wildfire," with Slagle and Sheckard, formed the Cubs' outfield with which Frank Chance won a pennant. Later, when Slagle began to slip back, Artie Hofman took his place and Schulte continued his heavy hitting and more pennants were won.

JEFF SMITH, BOXING INSTRUCTOR, AT DIX

CHILDREN SHELTERED FROM BOCHE SHELLS

When Guns Boom Tots Beg to Be Taken Into Cellars Beyond Harm's Reach.

"Les caves! Les caves!" "I want to go in the cellar!"

Shrill cries from Jean and Marie and Felix and hundreds of other French youngsters, huddled together in little frightened groups, answered the booming of the big guns, the crackle of the mitrailleuses and the intermittent hum of a Boche airplane.

The children were gathered in the old fort on the hill, overlooking a town very close to the front, where the Red Cross takes care of them. The cathedral bell had tolled for five minutes, though you could hardly hear it for the roar of the guns, and the siren had blown. Then the people in the town below had scurried to their cellars, for that was a warning of a raider coming.

In the cellar they would have been quite content and unafraid. For more months than they could remember they had been living in cellars in the little shell swept villages near the town and sometimes in dugouts in the hills. But the Red Cross and the prefect had taken them away from their homes, and now there were no cellars.

A dozen little girls crowded into one big bed. With the bedclothes over your head it was dark. Perhaps the bomb wouldn't get you there. Half an hour seemed ten hours.

Then the guns stopped firing, and it was quiet again. The Boche had gone. Only the restless searchlights still guarded the sky.

Below there in the town a tenement house had been cut in two. A poilu had come all the way from Salonica, 2,000 miles away, to see his wife and three children. But the German bombs found them first.

On the hill the children were safe—this time. You can't always be safe from the bombs when the Boche carries them. But the children are always safe from guns and gas and disease and filth and hunger. So much safety the Red Cross can and does give them for the sake of tomorrow in France.

Cure for the "Blues."

One of the cures for depression is a long walk in the fresh air. Not dawdling up and down the street staring into shop windows, but a good, brisk walk of many blocks, with the mind concentrated on something else than our troubles. A good book is another cure and perhaps one of the best. Even letter writing may serve or a visit to a friend. Action, action, action! That is what one must force one's self into if the melancholy is to be dispelled. There are so many real troubles and sorrows in the world. There are so many brave persons wrestling with real problems it seems too bad that anyone should lose a chance of happiness in worry over imaginary troubles. Remember that every shield has two sides and that one side is golden. Look on the bright side of the shield.

Peanuts as Consumption Cure.

A doctor has suggested that a diet of peanuts is a cure for consumption. He records the case of two young women who had grown sick of cod liver oil and tonics and who were treated by him with salted peanuts—all they could eat—combined with inhalations of vinegar. Both patients became plump, and after one year's inhalation ceased coughing, and were pronounced cured. Peanuts are recommended also for sleeplessness.

Bright Eton Boys.

The schoolboy "howler" is quite commonly amusing, but its very frequency is apt to make it something of a bore. It is doubtful, however, if a more representative collection of the genus has ever been got together than that recently given to the public, out of his own experience, by the vice provost of Eton. First there was the exquisite, though not absolutely new one of the boy who explained that Homer was not written by Homer, but by another man of the same name. Then there was a dissertation on beads in the terms that, "A bede is a very old man known as a venerable bede, and sometimes called Adam Bede." But the gem of the whole collection was undoubtedly the definition of a vacuum as "the place where the pope lives." After this to be told that gravity is "a limit of ten miles an hour" is in the nature of an anti-climax.

When the Hair Turns White.

Most people have seen the cheeks become pale with terror, but few have seen the hair turn white from the same cause, and the possibility of such a transformation has often been denied. Yet it is a well-attested fact. Some years ago a Swiss mountaineer was rescued from a terrible situation into which he had inadvertently placed himself while hunting chamois—a narrow ledge on the face of a tremendous precipice, to which he had had to cling precariously all night. So great had been the strain on his nerves that his hair had turned white during the darkness.

Complaints in Order.

"Old Smith is complaining of the vertical writing in schools." "He's an old grouch. Next thing he'll be objecting to the horizontal bars."

POPULAR CLOTHING MAN TO LEAVE TOWN

John E. McCarthy, of Savard & McCarthy, Going to Bristol, Conn., to Open Store—Kingston Store Closes Tonight.

Savard & McCarthy, who have conducted a clothing and gentleman's furnishing store on Wall street for the past seven years, will close their store tonight and on Monday the fixtures will be shipped to Bristol, Conn., where a new store will be opened within a few weeks, which will be in charge of John E McCarthy, who has been the popular and efficient manager of the Kingston store for three years.

JOHN E. McCARTHY.

Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy will remain in town several days in order to pack their household furniture and ship it to Bristol. They leave Kingston with the best wishes of innumerable friends who regret to have them go elsewhere. During their residence here both Mr. and Mrs McCarthy have been very active in the musical, dramatic and social life of Kingston. Shortly after coming to Kingston, Mr. McCarthy's dramatic ability was ascertained by the promoters of the Elks' Club minstrels and he was impressed to take an active part in that entertainment. Since then he has been instrumental in the success of minstrel and theatrical performances given by numerous societies and has acquitted himself with much credit. He has shown himself to be a singer of no mean ability.

Mrs. McCarthy, who is just as devoted to instrumental music as Mr. McCarthy is to vocal music, has appeared in numerous musical entertainments and has always found great favor with her audiences.

In business Mr. McCarthy has demonstrated exceptional ability and his business friends will regret equally with personal friends to have him leave Kingston. Although discontinuing the Kingston store, the company will continue to operate nine stores, the others being at Saratoga, Albany, Troy, N. Y., and Bridgeport, New Haven, New London, Middletown, Meriden and Bristol, Conn.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 30, 1918

Critics of the New York State Food Commission must be deeply disappointed at the testimony given before the Legislative War Committee at Albany, that the Commission is not asking for an additional appropriation of one million dollars. Nobody seems to be able to trace the story to its source but the persistence with which it was circulated leads to the conclusion that it originated with malicious mischief makers instead of being merely the product of the Busy Street Liar. The financial statement before the Legislative Committee is gratfying to everyone except the sore-heads who have been unable to get their hands in the treasury. It shows that the Commission has expended only $90,466.84 on its own account; that in addition it paid indebtedness of the former State Food Supply Commission, which was legislated out of existence, amounting to $21,209.18; leaving an unexpended balance of $208,735.49 of the old Food Supply Commission's appropriation, while the one million dollar appropriation made for the use of the present Commission is untouched. Therefore, there is no intention of asking for an additional appropriation. In view of the facts disclosed, it is not to be wondered that at the close of the hearing one of the members of the War Committee announced: "The facts presented today show that the State Food Commission has done great work and is one of the most efficient and economical commissions ever appointed in the State." But in spite of that fact, the jobless will continue to demand the scalp of the Commission. If they can't get jobs themselves they will try to get them for friends; in any event they will have a chance to get in the limelight for a little while and try to attract attention to themselves on the specious plea of their own patriotism. Results show more patriotism than hot air ever will.

THE EASTER CONTRAST.

We approach the day when a large part of the civilized world observes with varying emotions the anniversary of an important epoch in the life of the most perfect human being known to the world. His teachings form the basis of a religion which claims millions of believers and followers. They appeal not only to the heart but to the head.

The language used by the Perfect Man is simple, direct, forceful; whether read in the original language in which it was recorded or in translations to other languages it impresses the reader by its gentleness. The rules of conduct promulgated by the one Perfect Man of history have become the standard rules of the civilized world; there is nothing among them which is wrong, there is everything among them which is right. The principles of the Perfect Man coincide in every respect with the principles of right; they measure squarely with all that human logic and the inborn feeling known as conscience show us is right, and other principles could not be those of a Perfect Man.

In the life of every human being the two most important events are birth and death. To these the Christian religion has added a third event in the life of the Perfect Man which it cherishes and observes on Easter. Christianity makes memorable these three events in His life and the three dates are set apart for special observance. Civilization has decreed that the birthday anniversary of some of the great men of every nation shall be fittingly observed as a tribute to their worthy deeds for mankind. In our own country these days mark the anniversary of the birth of Washington and Lincoln, who, while they directed huge military operations, fought for the establishment of principles of right and justice. Their lives were marked by kindliness and magnanimity, and their memory is cherished with other national treasures which the civilized world admires.

Nineteen hundred years from the days of the Perfect Man finds the world engaged in war of proportions hitherto unknown, caused by the attempt of the monarch of one nation to become a world dictator and by force of might to impose his idea of Kultur on all people that they may become his vassals. In doing this he points out to Christian, Jew, and Mohammedan that he is guided by God alone who has selected him as the instrumentality through which the world is to become a united people. To this extent he places himself on a parity with Jesus Christ, the Perfect Man, whom disciples of the Christian religion accept as the Son of God. For making that claim, Christ was crucified.

At this season the thoughts of Christian religionists turn naturally to the life and teachings of the Perfect Man, but in thousands of homes devotional thoughts must divide the time with thoughts of absent membes of the family who if not yet on the battlefield of civilization in Europe are preparing to go there. To most minds the contrast between the Perfect Man and His principles and the man whose repeated public utterances indicate only that he believes himself chosen by God to govern the world is so great that it compels more than passing attention and invites comparison between the two lives to determine whether there are any points of similarity. There are not any. One life is marked by characteristics which develop affection, the other by those which result only in execration. As opposed to gentleness in one life we see savagery in the other; as against meekness there is arrogance; against honesty, insincerity; against love, hate; against kindness, frightfulness. The lives of the revered characters of history including our own national heroes are not in any instance marked by the savagery, arrogance, insincerity, hate and frightfulness which are the predominating and distinguishing traits of the German Emperor who calls himself the present-day agent of God.

Few people think exactly alike on religious matters. They may differ widely on essentials of doctrine or it may be merely on details. On questions affecting right there is no difference of opinion among well-balanced men of any nationality. Anyone having the power to think must at all times make comparisons on matters affecting right and wrong. There is no particular time for such thoughts, which will come to the front as well in the middle of the week as on Sunday. There are certain occasions, however, when thoughts along particular lines must force themselves foremost in the mind and no more appropriate time suggests itself for contrasting the Perfect Man with William Hohenzollern of Prussia than Easter.

The golden jubilee of the Knights of Pythias was held in their Castle Hall Friday evening. There was a large attendance. The meeting was opened by an instrumental duet by Mrs. Gillette and Mrs. Zimmerman. Singing, "Star Spangled Banner" and presentation of the flag. Ritualistic ceremonies were conducted by the officers in charge. The services were instructive and impressive. A solo by Miss Ella Lapine was well rendered. An address on "Friendship" was given by George Propheter, which was very interesting, instructive and helpful, bringing before his hearers wonderful truths in his calm, collected and forceful way. Mr. Propheter is a scholar of rare ability and brought out points never to be forgotten by the attentive audience, and it is hoped they will be practiced by all. An address by the Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout on "Patriotism" was listened to with great interest and impressions left that will long linger in the minds and hearts of his friends in this village. Instrumental duet, Mrs. Gillette and Mrs. Zimmerman; singing, "America." Refreshments were served. The evening was one long to be remembered on account of the sociability that prevailed and enthusiasm shown by the members of the K. of P.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Does your boy believe in Santa Claus?" "I don't know. He's writing him a letter." "Well?" "But I notice he leaves it around where I can see it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"What's the matter with that guy? When I told him of the hundreds of people who couldn't get street cars, he chuckled and chuckled." "Oh, he owns a taxicab line."—Buffalo Express.

Willie Slimson: "My, but I thought you were a great deal bigger than you are." Featherstone: "What gave you such an idea, Willie?" "Why, sister said that all you did was to take up room."—Life.

"My friend, there is really no excuse for your not looking neat and clean." "Sorry, mister," explained Plodding Peter, "but I'm conserving my bit along wit de rest o' de folks. You jes' happened to hit me on my soapless day."—Washington Star.

Mrs. Kawler—"Then you and young Mr. Sharp are not on speaking terms any more?" Mrs. Blunderby—"No, indeed. The last time I met him I told him my husband had locomotive atacksia, and the young whippersnapple had the impudence to ask if he whistled at crossings."—Boston Transcript.

One Lost, Three Found.

The scene is a crowded 'bus. A soldier, back from the trenches, sitting in corner near the entrance, puts his hand into his pocket for his fare, and pulls out a shilling and some coppers.

The 'bus jolts violently and to the soldier's dismay, the shilling slips from his fingers just as the lights go out, as they always do in London, in these days, when a bridge is being crossed. The passengers with one accord begin to grope for soldier's shilling. "'Fraid it rolled off, mate," says the conductor.

Then lights go up again, and discover three passengers each holding out the shilling which they have found.—Christian Science Monitor.

Given Away.

"The German corrupt on propaganda," said the brilliant French journalist, Henri La Farge, at a luncheon in Washington, "gives itself away everywhere. It's as bad as Mr. Graft.

"'Oh, George,' said Mrs. Graft, rushing into her husband's office, 'my diamond ring has disappeared, and I can't find it anywhere.'

"'It's all right, Marie,' said Mr. Graft. 'I came across it this morning in my trousers pocket.'"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Not Much Impressed.

"You told me you would give me your answer tonight."

"Did I really do that?" asked the popular beauty.

"Good heavens! Have you forgotten that I asked you to marry me?"

"Why—er—while the maid was doing my hair I kept thinking there was something or other I had promised to tell you tonight, but I couldn't remember what it was."—New York Sun.

A Protest.

"Do you think you can lean to love me?" asked the diffident youth.

"How much money have you?" inquired thre entirely practical girl.

"I beg your pardon. This is a proposal of marriage, not a bet."—Brooklyn Eagle.

DRAFT RIOTS IN QUEBEC.

Mob Wrecks Office of Newspaper Loyal to Country.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Quebec, March 30.—A second outburst of anti-conscription rioting which broke during the night and resulted in the wrecking of a newspaper office, was ended today and the streets cleared by militiamen called out by Mayor Lavigeur.

The mobs swept through the streets, wrecking the offices of the Chronicle, supporter of the conscription act, a paper owned by Major General Sir David Watson, a division commander of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces.

Fire was started in the office of the city registrar, but was quickly extinguished. The outbreak started when crowds interfered with an officer who was rounding up slackers, and it spread until Mayor Lavigeur called upon them to disperse. When their only response was jeering and further threats, he called the militia.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

March 30, 1898.—Judge Sharpe elected attorney for the Ulster County Savings Institution.

Fourteenth Separate Company defeated the Invincibles of New York at basketball 34 to 19.

March 30, 1908.—Yachts E. B. Gardner and Elihu Bunker began trips on Rondout-Glasco route.

The Tri-County Baseball League organized here.

The steamer J. H. Tremper made first trip of season.

New Time and the Churches.

Those who intend to attend the various services of the churches on Easter Sunday would do well to remember that most of the churches will hold services according to new time. If the people will turn their clocks and watches ahead one hour Saturday night and on Sunday arrange their affairs according to "clock time," there will be little confusion. But if they are careless, some will reach their church just in time for the benediction. It may seem strange or even unnecessary to some, but the churches do not want to be "slackers" and have therefore decided it is best to at once conform to the request of our government. Don't be a "slacker" yourself, but get up early and go to church.

Added Hardships.

"Did you have a hard time with the customs people when you landed?" "I should say so! After the inspectors got through with our baggage the first thing when we got out on the pier, we were met by a scorching rain."

PATRIOTISM IN M. E. CONFERENCE

Large Part of Time of Meetings in Newburgh Next Week Will be Devoted to Patriotic Matters.

Patriotic meetings will occupy a conspicuous place in the program of the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which meets in Newburgh next week, Bishop L. B. Wilson presiding. In addition to the regular business of the conference, an important feature will be the presentation of the Centenary World Program by visiting clergy, direct from Centenary headquarters in New York city.

Speeches on the Centenary program will include four main topics:

"Resources of Methodism."

"Can and Will the Church Meet the Present World Emergency?"

"The Home Field."

"The Centenary and the Present World Conflict."

Relationship of the Centenary World Program to the war will be emphasized and the importance of a big scale constructive program to help in our avowed purpose of extending world democracy, and to offset the tragically necessary destruction involved in this great war for democracy. The loyalty of American Methodists to President Wilson and his war program as enunciated in his several messages will be reaffirmed, not only at this conference, but at all the spring conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church all over the United States.

Several of the visiting ministers have been selected as among the most eloquent speakers in the Methodist clergy. They will make patriotic addresses, and it is probable that resolutions will be passed, expressing the spirit of the conference.

Influences of the war upon the future of the church and a constructive program of influence which the church must exert as a result of the war will be considered at length. In deciding to raise a special fund as part of the Centenary World Program provision has been made for war needs. Half a million dollars is to be spent in this country for the soldier boys, strengthening churches in the neighborhood of training camps and co-operating with chaplains and Y. M. C. A. workers for systematic work in the camps.

To make an immediate beginning on the huge task of reconstruction work overseas, a million dollars are wanted for building houses and schools, and helping care for the orphan children of France and Italy. The work of the Methodist Episcopal Church has suffered severely in Udine, Italy, which has been captured by the Austrians, the church buildings there probably having been destroyed.

Official standing is given the relationship of the church to the war by the erection of a war council of the Methodist Episcopal Church, with representatives in Washington who are working in direct co-operation with the government in the departments of justice, food administration, Liberty Loans and War Savings, with the Red Cross, and with the United States Medical Department. The influence of this war council will reach directly from the government in Washington to every chapel and Sunday school of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States.

Bishop Theodore S. Henderson of Detroit, executive officer of the war council, is devoting his entire time this spring to delivering a fervent message of patriotism to all the spring conferences he is able to reach. At the recent conference in Philadelphia, where a special conference service flag was dedicated, Bishop Henderson made a stirring address. He pointed out that today in addition to our Declaration of Independence there is need for a Declaration of independence of all the nations fighting for democracy. He added that there can be no brotherhood, and no world democracy except through Jesus Christ.

Bishop Henderson reminded his audience that Uncle Sam has lately made a radical change in his publicity policy. The navy recruiting posters used to offer young men "A fine opportunity to see the world." Today they read: "The United States navy needs fighting men, and needs them now." When the church comes to this change of policy, when it stops looking on, and begins to call for fighting men to wage a real fight against the forces of evil, then, and not until then, it may hope to accomplish something worth while.

WEST SHORE GRADE CROSSINGS HEARING

A public hearing at the request of the New York Central R. R. for the purpose of having the two grade crossings at Churchland and the bridge in Wells Myer cut abolished, was held by Public Service Commissioner Fennell in the town hall, Saugerties, Friday morning. The railroad proposed to build a road in conjunction with the town on the west side of the tracks, connecting with the old Kings highway near the Wells Myer place and extending to the Bert Spring property. The town board who were present, through Supervisor John D. Fratsher asked that the road be built through to Mount Marion, and after some discussion the hearing was adjourned, in order to present a new petition, until May 1st.

The railroad was represented B. S. Voorhees of New York, engineer of grade crossings who presented a blue print of the proposed new road, and Amos Van Etten of Kingston, attorney. The American Telegraph & Telephone Co. whose lines abut the property was represented by Frederick Beattys of New York.

County Attorney John W. Eckert and County Engineer James F. Loughran of Kingston, were also present in the interests of the town and county. Benjamin Rowe represented M. E. Donlon, a property owner along the road near the crossing. Quite a number of Churchland and Mt. Marion residents were also present.—Saugerties Post.

Narrow Escape From Death.

Gasoline got the best of the employes in Way's garage at Big Indian Wednesday of last week when a fire stated in the pit and burned Eugene Thompson, an employe, so that the skin of his left arm was burned entirely off and hung in shreds at his wrist. He was helping to overhaul an auto and went under the front end of the car and down into the pit. He no sooner stepped into the bottom than flames leaped up all around him, but he had the presence of mind to crawl out of the pit and emerged from the garage with his clothing afire in several places.

Nearly Poisoned Child.

Thursday some one poisoned a dog belonging to David Hiltebrant of Saugerties, and Hiltebrant's three-year old son nearly met a similar fate. A bottle of carbolic acid was thrown in the yard and the boy got hold of it and began to taste it. The acid burned his mouth and his cries attracted his mother's attention who knocked the bottle from the boy's hand just in time to prevent him swallowing some of the acid.

SUMMER WEATHER OVER IN FRANCE

Harry Demgen Who is Doing His Bit in the Medical Department Writes an Interesting Letter to a Friend at Home.

Mr. Sutton has received the following letter from Harry W. Demgen, who is in service in France:

N. R. Sutton, Foreman,
Care of Fuller Shirt Co.
Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Sutton:

I am not writing you this time to make up some more of those classy silk shirts, and you know what loud patterns I pick out; making the fellows ask so many questions as to where I got them, etc.

I have been over here now almost three months and I am feeling better than ever. We have a fine place here. I like my work. It's very interesting and is a great experience for me. It is the best of training for young men.

The work I am doing in the office here is about the same that I did in the plant. We have a large office force and there are some fine fellows here from all over the states. We work from 8 to 5 and have Sundays off. We sleep in a Hotel. The eats are good; all American food.

In each room in the hotel is a large fireplace which we use a great deal evenings. The mornings and nights are a little cold, but the rest of the day is warm, just like summer time. Seems odd to receive letters from the states telling about zero weather.

What's the news from the states? Write me a letter when you have time.

I am learning to do some new things, such as sewing on buttons, making fire in the fireplace, and other things that I never did at home. You have been in the service so you know what it is. But I can state that we have a very fine place at the depot and the surroundings are fine.

The government allotment plan is a good thing. I made my allotment to have $15 sent home each month. We are usually broke in France here. The French francs go fast. We have not realized yet the real value of a franc, but the French know all right. We expect pay day soon.

We enjoy ourselves Sundays by taking long walks in the country. The country is beautiful now.

We have a Y. M. C. A. here and they make us fellows feel at home. We have had several enjoyable concerts here with the artists direct from Paris. Also some singers from the Boston Opera Company. On Saturday evenings the boys at the depot give an entertainment consisting of boxing, singing, dancing, etc.

It is now 12:55 a. m., nearly time to get back to work. We are busy today.

I received a few letters today from the states and believe me I was very glad to get them, and to hear that the folks at home are all well.

I have met several fellows from Kingston here: Grant Brinnier, Ennist, Kaplan, Smith and Styles. We only had a few moments to talk over old times.

The weather was fine on the way over. Most of the boys were sea sick, but I escaped. On board the boat we had entertainments every morning at 11 o'clock. We only got two meals a day on the boat, but had a canteen and I spent some money.

The auto riding and cigars are the things I miss here. Wish I had the car here. There are some fine French cars here.

Hope this letter finds you well. Remember me to the office force and to Mr. Fuller. Tell them I am feeling better than ever. Hope to see you all again when I return, which I trust will be soon.

Yours truly,
(Signed) H. W. DEMGEN.

GRASS WAS GREEN IN FEBRUARY

Over in France—Charles Bauer, Who is in Service "Over There," Writes Home to His Mother.

Mrs. K. Bauer of 35 Abbey street has received the following letter from her son, Charles Bauer, who is doing his bit in France:

Dear Mother:—I arrived safe and I am feeling fine. It is warm here during the day but cold at night. When it rains here you can walk in mud up to your knees. Have you much snow in Kingston? I don't believe that it snows over here, for when we landed here in February the grass was green.

While coming over on the boat we received cigarettes and tobacco, donated by Paul Keith and Edward Albee. Keith is the man that operates so many theaters in New York city and Brooklyn.

Give my love to all and keep a lot for yourself. I hope that you will answer my letters promptly, as your letters have a long ways to come.

From your loving son,
(Signed) CHARLES BAUER.

INCOME TAX MEN TO STAY OVER MONDAY

Because Last Day of the Month Falls on Sunday, But Returns Must Positively be Filed on Monday.

On account of the last day of March falling on Sunday, Deputy Internal Revenue Collectors LeFevre and Ward will remain in Kingston on Monday to finish up the work connected with income tax matters and taxpayers who cannot file their returns by tonight will be given an opportunity of seeing them at the court house on Monday when all returns must be filed.

The time in which to file returns was extended from the first of March for one month because of the delay in getting blanks from the government printing office at Washington where the extra printing required by all departments prevented the work from being turned out on time.

Monday will be the last day on which to file income tax returns and anyone who fails to file a return by that time will be liable to the penalty for failure to do so, which is not less than $20 or more than $1,000, and in addition 50 per cent of the amount of tax due. For making a false or fraudulent return the penalty is not exceeding $2,000 or not exceeding one year's imprisonment, or both, and in addition 100 per cent of the tax evaded. The tax must be paid on or before June 15th.

FURNITURE NEEDED FOR NEW DISPENSARY

Friday afternoon the special committee of the Ulster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis, composed of Dr. O'Meara, Dr. Dederer and Dr. Gates, with Mr. Fowler ex-officio, accompanied by Dr. Prest of Albany made a careful investigation of the tuberculosis dispensary problem. It was finally decided that the center of the city was the logical location for such a dispensary and certain rooms on Broadway near the West Shore and Kingston's factory section, were looked at. The committee will soon make a report of its findings to the executive council, regarding the establishment of a tuberculosis dispensary.

In the meantime, since it is so near spring house cleaning time, it is quite possible that a number of individuals in the city may have such few articles of furniture as would be needed, that they would be willing to give or loan for the equipment of the office and examining room, thus releasing the money for the purchase of such articles for actual tuberculosis work. The articles needed will be several chairs suitable to such a place; a desk or flat topped table with drawers; a screen; and most important of all, scales. The scales do not have to be special hospital scales, but any scales which will accurately weigh people. As soon as the executive council decides upon the location, The Freeman will tell where such articles as mentioned above may be sent, or will be called for and taken, either if they are given or loaned. Please be ready to help out if you can!

A. B. C. D. E. Floor Committee.

Among all the important committees necssary to make successful such a ball as the annual Benedictine Charity Dance—Easter Monday evening, one of the most important, especially when there will be as big a crowd as the advance sale of tickets indicates, is the "Floor Committee." That committee will be comprised of the following gentlemen, thus doubly assuring a good time to the dancers: Hon. A. J. Cook, chairman; Hon. Charles W. Walton, Walter L. Fales, Hon. Edgar T. Shultis, N. D. J. Murphy, Dr. Mark O'Meara, James O'Connor, Dr. John F. Larkin, Thomas A. McNelis, E. B. Loughran, John B. Kearney, Judge N. Frank O'Reilly, Peter Barmann, Jr., Dr. John G. O'Leary, James V. Halloran; Dr. Samuel Levitas, John J. Goldrick.

The music, which will be provided by the Musicians' Union, will be of the best and most danceable.

Army or Navy Men Invited.

The Auxiliary of the Benedictine Sanitarium, which is giving this dance for the benefit of the Charity Ward of the sanitarium, herewith invites any man in service, and whose uniform will be his letter of introduction, to be their guests at this dance next Monday evening, and the door keepers will be instructed to admit such without the purchase of a ticket.

True Selfhood.

To earnestly and consistently believe that everything and all is by the Self and of the Self and for the Self and to believe that Self is essentially perfect, all-pervading, all-containing, all-including, means the beginning of the true and lasting realization of every hope. There would be no more power apart from self to fear, to hinder or to help. It would mean the end of judgment and condemnation of others. No more hatred, envy, jealousy, hypocrisy, malice or greed; no regrets of the past nor fears of the future could longer endure. Man would be reconciled with himself and consequently with all, for the Self is One. He would come to regard all things as working together for good. All abnormal stress would be removed from his life; all unnatural strain and friction relieved. Restlessness and strife would gradually disappear and the sun of righteousness would arise with healing in his wings.—From Selfhood by G. Rupert Lesch.

HELPFUL IDEAS.

In buying a chicken or fowl it is more economical to buy a large one than one that is small, as the proportion of meat to the bone is greater. The bones may be covered with water after the meat has been served, with a piece of celery, a slice of onion with a bit of rice or barley making a good soup. Any bits of meat may be used in combination with apple, potato or other vegetable for a salad, or used as stuffing for boiled onions and then baked or in a white sauce on toast. Other ways will occur to the progressive woman, to dispose of bits of chicken or other meats making palatable dishes.

Cheese is a food which should be more commonly used. It is highly nutritious, very concentrated and with no waste. Compared to many of our high-priced meats it is economical and a pound of cheese equals two pounds of meat as to food value.

Cornmeal Muffins.—Sift together three times one and a half cupfuls of flour, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, one and a half tablespoonfuls of cornmeal, half a teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then add three-fourths of a cupful of milk, two well-beaten eggs, three tablespoonfuls of melted shortening, mix and beat well, then pour into buttered muffin pans and bake twenty minutes.

Coconut Indian Pudding.—Mix together one tablespoonful of fresh grated coconut, two tablespoonfuls of Indian meal, one tablespoonful of minute tapioca, one-half cupful of molasses, one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of shortening, one quart of milk and salt to taste. Pour into a buttered dish and bake two hours. Serve hot with cream.

Fig and Nut Pudding.—Stir a half teaspoonful of salt into two cupfuls of boiling water, add a half cupful of sugar and stir in enough graham flour to make a mush. Cook a half hour, then add a half cupful of chopped figs and a few finely chopped Brazil nuts. Serve with whipped cream. This is an emergency pudding which will be good enough to try again. Raisins or dates may be substituted for figs and other nuts may be used if desired.

TEACHERS CAN HELP IN MAKING INDEX

Telegrams from the adjutant general urge local exemption boards to send the completed index cards of registrants who have been classified. This is necessary in order that the provost marshal general may proceed with work which is waiting in his office.

The work of carding the questionnaires was undertaken by the city teachers in every city who offered their services to the local exemption boards in order that the draft work might proceed rapidly. For the past two weeks the teachers have not volunteered their services which is probably due to the extra school work at this season.

Next week will be vacation week in the schools and the teachers will be at liberty to assist the local boards with the carding work. The assistance of anyone, whether a member of the teaching force or not, will be appreciated by the local boards who have been handicapped by the lack of volunteers in completing this important branch of the draft work.

The office of the local board for Division No. 1 is at the Ulster county surrogate's office, corner of Main and Fair streets, and the office of the local board for Division No. 2 is in the Hasbrouck building on Main street.

MEATLESS DAYS ARE SUSPENDED

Received from Washington:

Meatless days should be suspended for the next 30 days beginning today, due to unusual run of hogs to market and to shortage during the winter of storage capacity and overseas transportation and port facilities. There is a large supply of potatoes and milk and temporary removal of meat regulation should facilitate a large saving of bread stuff. This is not to be considered by consumer as departure from the general practice of conservation of all foods. The need of food on the other side and the need of food in America is as great as ever.

WILLIAM C. SHAFER,
Food Administrator for Ulster County.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The bride who is a teacher in the Alsen Public School, was attired in a gown of white crepe de chine, trimmed with Princess lace and wore a tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Mr. Lehman of Newark, N. J., a well known architect and designer of theaters, who has prepared plans for the new Wall street theater, is in town for a few days looking over the work already accomplished, and it is expected that bids will be asked for within a short time.

During the winter the owner has been getting many of the furnishings and a considerable part of the material which will be needed for inside work so that there will not be any delay on that score. Advantage will be taken of the market to secure the remainder of the furnishings needed and every effort will be made to push forward the constructive program.

Morris Ginsburg, a young boy about 7 years old, of 20 Ann street, broke his arm between the wrist and the elbow Friday evening in a queer accident at his home. He was playing with his brother and in some manner caught his arm between the slats of the crib. When found he lay on the floor under the crib with his arm between the slats. Dr. C. F. Keefe was summoned and set the arm and attended the boy.

OLD-TIME BALL PLAYERS FAST FADING FROM GAME

Ball players who only a few years ago were starring every day on the diamonds in the big leagues are gradually fading away. Tom Leach was recently released by a minor league club and Harry Davis retired. And now "Wildfire" Schulte has been released by the Phillies.

Frank Schulte was a member of the old Cub machine when Frank Chance was its leader. For fifteen years Schulte, who batted left-handed, was noted as the champion right-field fence buster of the league.

"Wildfire," with Slagle and Sheckard, formed the Cubs' outfield with which Frank Chance won a pennant. Later, when Slagle began to slip back, Artie Hofman took his place and Schulte continued his heavy hitting and more pennants were won.

JEFF SMITH, BOXING INSTRUCTOR, AT DIX

"Jeff" Smith, middleweight champion, now boxing instructor at Camp Dix, leaving his quarters to meet his class, burdened by "Text Books," just received for the use of his students.

CHILDREN SHELTERED FROM BOCHE SHELLS

When Guns Boom Tots Beg to Be Taken Into Cellars Beyond Harm's Reach.

"Les caves! Les caves!" "I want to go in the cellar!"

Shrill cries from Jean and Marie and Felix and hundreds of other French youngsters, huddled together in little frightened groups answered the booming of the big guns, the crackle of the mitrailleuses and the intermittent hum of a Boche airplane.

The children were gathered in the old fort on the hill, overlooking a town very close to the front, where the Red Cross takes care of them. The cathedral bell had tolled for five minutes, though you could hardly hear it for the roar of the guns, and the siren had blown. Then the people in the town below had scurried to their cellars, for that was a warning of a raider coming.

In the cellar they would have been quite content and unafraid. For more months than they could remember they had been living in cellars in the little shell swept villages near the town and sometimes in caverns in the hills. But the Red Cross and the prefect had taken them away from their homes, and now there were no cellars.

A dozen little girls crowded into one big bed. With the bedclothes over your head it was dark. Perhaps the bomb wouldn't get you there. Half an hour seemed ten hours.

Then the guns stopped firing, and it was quiet again. The Boche had gone. Only the restless searchlights still guarded the sky.

Below there in the town a tenement house had been cut in two. A poilu had come all the way from Salonica, 2,000 miles away, to see his wife and three children. But the German bombs found them first.

On the hill the children were safe—this time. You can't always be safe from the bombs when the Boche carries them. But the children are always safe from guns and gas and disease and filth and hunger. So much safety the Red Cross can and does give them for the sake of tomorrow in France.

Cure for the "Blues."

One of the cures for depression is a long walk in the fresh air. Not dawdling up and down the street staring into shop windows, but a good, brisk walk of many blocks, with the mind concentrated on something else than our troubles. A good book is another cure and perhaps one of the best. Even letter writing may serve or a visit to a friend. Action, action, action! That is what one must force one's self into if the melancholy is to be dispelled. There are so many real troubles and sorrows in the world. There are so many brave persons wrestling with real problems it seems too bad that any one should lose a chance of happiness in worry over imaginary troubles. Remember that every shield has two sides and that one side is golden. Look on the bright side of the shield.

Peanuts as Consumption Cure.

A doctor has suggested that a diet of peanuts is a cure for consumption. He records the case of two young women who had grown sick of cod liver oil and tonics and who were treated by him with salted peanuts—all they could eat—combined with inhalations of vinegar. Both patients became plump, and after one year's inhalation ceased coughing, and were pronounced cured. Peanuts are recommended also for sleeplessness.

Bright Eton Boys.

The schoolboy "howler" is quite commonly amusing, but its very frequency is apt to make it something of a bore. It is doubtful, however, if a more representative collection of the genus has ever been got together than that recently given to the public, out of his own experience, by the vice provost of Eton. First there was the exquisite, though not absolutely new one of the boy who explained that Homer was not written by Homer, but by another man of the same name. Then there was a dissertation on beads in the terms that, "A bede is a very old man known as a venerable bede, and sometimes called Adam Bede." But the gem of the whole collection was undoubtedly the definition of a vacuum as "the place where the pope lives." After this to be told that gravity is "a limit of ten miles an hour" is in the nature of an anti-climax.

When the Hair Turns White.

Most people have seen the cheeks become pale with terror, but few have seen the hair turn white from the same cause, and the possibility of such a transformation has often been denied. Yet it is a well-attested fact. Some years ago a Swiss mountaineer was rescued from a terrible situation into which he had inadvertently placed himself while hunting chamois—a narrow ledge on the face of a tremendous precipice to which he had had to cling precariously all night. So great had been the strain on his nerves that his hair had turned white during the darkness.

Complaints in Order.

"Old Smith is complaining of the vertical writing in schools." "He's an old grouch. Next thing he'll be objecting to the horizontal bars."

Big Tithes for Bishop.

A champion pluralist was Bishop Luxmore of St. Asaph. To his own use he contrived to impound the tithes of some two dozen parishes, which gave him an annual income of nearly £20,000. A staunch believer was the worthy bishop in the maxim that blood is thicker than water. For his eldest son, whom he made dean of St. Asaph, he obtained other ecclesiastical appointments which brought him in over $8,000 yearly. A second son had preferments to the tune of a mere $2,000, while a nephew had to be content with a beggarly pittance of $1,000. It was reckoned that the four Luxmores, who flourished in the early years of last century, drew from their manifold appointments the sum of about $125,000 yearly.—London Times.

Moslem Polygamy.

The only passage in the Koran that refers to the subjects of polygamy is the third verse of the fourth Sutra. It reads: "And if ye are apprehensive that ye shall not deal fairly with orphans, then of other women who seem good in your eyes marry but two, or three, or four; and if ye still fear that ye shall not act equitably, then one only; or the slaves whom ye have acquired; this will make justice on your part easier." Since at the time of Mahomet the Arabians were allowed to marry as many wives as they pleased, this passage, instead of being an encouragement of polygamy, must be interpreted rather as a diplomatic recommendation of monogamy on account of the difficulty of realizing the conditions involved with the privilege.

Postal Service Development.

As late as the fifteenth century butchers or drovers who went about buying cattle were the principal carriers of private correspondence. In the twelfth century the University of Paris established a body of pedestrian messengers, who bore letters from its thousands of students to the various countries of Europe from which they came and brought to them the money they needed for the prosecution of their studies. The great development of commerce following the crusades and the geographical discoveries of the Italians, Portuguese and Spaniards created a necessity for business correspondence about the beginning of the sixteenth century.

Sprat.

As long ago as Elizabeth's time "sprat" was used as a term of contempt and as an article of diet it has always been deemed but humble fare, with which, however, good economists are very well content today, remarks the London Chronicle. But though despised in its adult state, it is in its infancy that highly esteemed delicacy, whitebait. We were a long time, however, in recognizing the fact, for naturalists disputed among themselves whether the honor should be accorded to the fry of shad, pilchards, or herring and only lately did they decide that it belonged to the herring and sprat.

For the Traveler.

It is a good plan to secure a telephone book before returning home from any place, especially if you have done much business or made new friends. One is obtained easily for a tip at the hotel, and is invaluable for quick reference to verify addresses, firm names, etc. One from Bermuda, for instance, has become useful to one traveler to insure accuracy in names and localities, and is always ready to supply information often obtainable in no other way at short notice.

Daily Thought.

It may happen that I shall find solace in that which brings sorrow to you; and that which to you speaks of gladness may be fraught with affliction for me. But no matter—into your grief will enter all that I say of beauty and comfort, and into my joy there will pass all that was great in your sadness.—Maeterlinck.

CANFIELD SAYS TREES MUST BE CUT

Policy to Have New Trees But Owners Must Understand City Has Right to Remove Trees Condemned by Bull Mooser Burhans, Tree Expert.

Office of the Mayor,
Kingston, N. Y., March 30th, 1918.

Editor Freeman:

I desire to set the public right in reference to the rights and the attitude of the board of public works about our city shade trees, as the article in your paper of last evening may mislead some people.

Any one who believes that the board is destitute of power to eliminate a tree within the street line is mistaken. The street includes the sidewalks and runs from fence-line to fence line, considering the fence-line as the property line. The property owner has certain general easements in all the public streets of the city and special easements as to the street fronting his property. These easements or rights are the creatures of the law of this state. The law declares the easements and rights and can not only define them, but can qualify, restrict, modify and limit them. The law can declare that the abutting land owner has a limited easement, or that he has an absolute easement.

It is true that the federal constitution prohibits any state from depriving any person of property without due process of law. However, the state courts alone decide what are easements within the meaning of the federal constitution as to their respective states, other than in a few exceptional cases. There is no question but what the property owner has certain rights in the street which fronts his property, which are protected by the constitution, such as the right of access, of light, and of air. Property owners lay the sidewalks in front of their properties walks in front of their respective properties at their own expense. The city can compel the property owner to lay a sidewalk. If the sidewalk requires repairing or relaying, the city can require him to attend to it. If the sidewalk is beyond repair, the city can require him to remove it at his expense and lay another sidewalk of the same kind or of a different kind.

Now, as to sidewalks, hitching posts, stepping stones and shade trees, all of which are usually placed in the street by the property owner, he has certain rights not shared by the public at large arising out of the relation of his lot to the street. He has the right to all of the special benefits which come and flow therefrom to his property, free from any interference by any wrong-doer or any person; but subject, absolutely, to the paramount right of the public represented by the municipal government. These rights as to trees, stepping stones, and posts in front of one's property and in the street are subject to the interference of no one except the official representatives of the public. However, they are subject to the public enjoyment. No property owner can have a private hitching post or stepping stone upon the sidewalk, although the public can regulate them, or may cause their removal if they interfere with public travel or are otherwise objectionable.

Therefore, the rights of a property owner in reference to trees in the street infront of his premises are paramount to other persons or trespassers. The rights of the city authorities, representing the public, are paramount, however, to the rights of the property owner. The property owner may recover damages from any person or company for injuries to his trees by leakage of gas or cutting or by a horse or in any other manner, if occasioned without authority of the proper municipal officials. In such case the city also has a right of action to recover the general public damage occasioned. The highest court of our state defines the rights of a property owner and of a city in reference to shade trees as follows: "So long as a hitching post or a shade tree is physically and legally a part of the street, he (meaning the property owner, is entitled to all the special benefits which flow therefrom to his lot, free from interference by a wrong-doer, but subject to removal by the municipal government."

It is a dangerous thing for people to be led to believe that they can defy constituted authority and especially so in these serious days. Besides the rights of the city as determined by our courts, the board of public works has been expressly given and delegated by the legislature absolute control of our public shade trees. Our charter provides that the board shall have and exercise the power and duty "to compel the owners of any premises to properly protect, spray or trim or to cut down, any tree, shrub, or plant within or partly within the line of any street or highway, and in case of the refusal or neglect of the owner so to do, to cause the same to be done at the expense of the owner and to cause such expense to be collected as herein provided."

I have dwelt upon this subject at some length as this is probably the first time since I have held an official position that the paramount rights of the city has been questioned. It is important to the city, and to the property owner as well, that each understands its or his own respective rights, and that each lives up to them.

I do not desire to convey the impression that the board of public works intends to act arbitrarily in this matter. It desires and expects to act justly and fairly. It will act, however, as it is its duty to act, not from the standpoint of any individual, but from the standpoint of the public; not from the standpoint of the present time alone, but from the standpoint of the future as well as the present.

The board recognizes the uses and purposes and the value of suitable shade trees, a suitable shade tree, whether it be ten years or one hundred years old, is not one which is rotten, decayed or hollow. It may stand for several years to come. If not interefered with it might require quite a few years before becoming dead. In such case it would gradually decay, first one limb and then another going. Shade trees adorn and add charm to a city and shelter the home in the summer from heat and dust. They increase the value of the properties in front of which they are planted, and of the whole street, and of the entire city. They must be desirable trees, suitably planted, and adapted to the soil and surroundings.

I regret to state that many property owners become quite indignant and once in a while abusively indignant because their trees have been condemned after careful examination by a tree expert. They fail to take into consideration the fact that the trees have been condemned usually because the property owner, or the prior owners of the property, failed to properly care for them or to take any care of them.

I have given quite some attention to the questions of public shade trees. It has to be considered from the standpoint of twenty years and upwards from now as well as today. We should have at least fifteen thousand suitable shade trees along our streets. These trees would be worth from one to two millions of dollars to the value of the properties within the city.

It would appear from such tree opinion as I have been able to obtain during the past four years that Norway maple trees are probably best suited for our city and our soil. Other hard maple trees are desirable. They are hardy trees and have few insect enemies. They should be planted from forty to fifty feet apart. The elm may be the most beautiful shade tree, but it is suited to streets where the line between buildings is about one hundred feet or more. It is commonly known that soft maples, poplars, catalpas, and other similar trees should never be planted in city streets.

It will be the attitude of the board to request co-operation upon the part of the property owners. Where a tree has been condemned as being hollow or rotten, the property owner will receive a notice giving him thirty days to comply with the board. If he desires it, the board will remove the tree without expense or risk to him. If the property owner will submit any proper evidence to the board tending to show that the tree expert of the board is in error, the board will carefully consider it. It will be the policy of the board where a tree is removed, to request the property owner to plant another suitable tree. No tree can be planted without the consent of the board, and no tree can be removed without like consent. If the property owner refuses or neglects to plant a tree in place of the one removed, I will ask the board to have same planted at its expense. The same action will be taken to plant trees in other places where they are needed. In many cases where present shade is desired, the property owner can plant a new tree, and during the first few years of its growth, the old tree could be permitted to remain, providing the property owner cares for it and gives it proper attention.

It is my policy and desire that Kingston may pre-eminently become the city of beautiful trees. To assume that position, the city must take a courageous stand to remove all decayed and rotten trees in order that it may plant other suitable and adaptable trees. Otherwise, twenty years from now, many of the present trees will have decayed into uselessness, and our city will be barren except in spots. The trees belong to the city and the property owner. If the property owner does not take care of them, the city must. There is no easier or cheaper way the city can add to its assessing value, because if the trees add one to two millions of dollars to the value of the properties, it follows that the assessing value is increased correspondingly. In other words the city would receive in return in one year after the maturity of the trees, much more than the original cost.

Any property owner will find that the board will be glad to co-operate with him and to help him, if possible, to retain his trees, especially for the present. The property owner, however, should show a graceful disposition to co-operate to the same extent, and also be as fair and reasonable as he expects the board to be toward him.

Respectfully,
PALMER CANFIELD, JR.

JAPAN WILL KEEP OUT OF SIBERIA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, March 30.—American diplomacy apparently has scored another victory. Advices reaching diplomatic quarters today indicate that Japan has definitely accepted the view of this country and will not intervene in Siberia.

According to these dispatches as a result of the conferences which have been in progress in Tokio for the last ten days it has been agreed that there is no serious menace for Japan in the Siberian developments and the premier and foreign minister have let it be known that all aggressive plans have been dropped.

Japan maintains her right to take any and all steps which may be necessary to protect her interests in the Far East and in this connection considers the interests of China intertwined with hers. But while the Siberian situation remains as it now is there will be no invasion of Siberia. Inasmuch as this is the position which the United States has held all along the two governments would seem to be in complete accord on the subject.

In this connection officials made it plain today that the position of the United States has all along been that Japan had every right to intervene in Siberia if her interests were menaced. But the information which came to the president was directly opposed to that which had been cited as making action by Japan imperative.

Where reports were current in Tokio, Paris and London that the German war prisoners had been organized and armed to move against Vladivostock and capture all of the supplies stored there advices sent to the president by Ambassador Francis, whose trusted agents were all through Siberia, was to the effect that there was no such danger. And the United States contented itself with collecting all of this information and presenting it confidentially to the Japanese government in a most informal manner.

That it was convincing seems to be borne out by the reports received here today that Japan has definitely abandoned for the present her plans of mobilization and the landing of a big army in Siberia.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 30, 1918

Critics of the New York State Food Commission must be deeply disappointed at the testimony given before the Legislative War Committee at Albany, that the Commission is not asking for an additional appropriation of one million dollars. Nobody seems to be able to trace the story to its source but the persistence with which it was circulated leads to the conclusion that it originated with malicious mischief makers instead of being merely the product of the Busy Street Liar. The financial statement before the Legislative Committee is gratifying to everyone except the sore-heads who have been unable to get their hands in the treasury. It shows that the Commission has expended only $90,466.84 on its own account; that in addition it paid indebtedness of the former State Food Supply Commission, which was legislated out of existence, amounting to $21,209.18; leaving an unexpended balance of $308,735.49 of the old Food Supply Commission's appropriation, while the one million dollar appropriation made for the use of the present Commission is untouched. Therefore, there is no intention of asking for an additional appropriation. In view of the facts disclosed, it is not to be wondered that at the close of the hearing one of the members of the War Committee announced: "The facts presented today show that the State Food Commission has done great work and is one of the most efficient and economical commissions ever appointed in the State." But in spite of that fact, the jobless will continue to demand the scalp of the Commission. If they can't get jobs themselves they will try to get them for friends; in any event they will have a chance to get in the limelight for a little while and try to attract attention to themselves on the specious plea of their own patriotism. Results show more patriotism than hot air ever will.

THE EASTER CONTRAST.

We approach the day when a large part of the civilized world observes with varying emotions the anniversary of an important epoch in the life of the most perfect human being known to the world. His teachings form the basis of a religion which claims millions of believers and followers. They appeal not only to the heart but to the head.

The language used by the Perfect Man is simple, direct, forceful; whether read in the original language in which it was recorded or in translations to other languages it impresses the reader by its gentleness. The rules of conduct promulgated by the one Perfect Man of history have become the standard rules of the civilized world; there is nothing among them which is wrong, there is everything among them which is right. The principles of the Perfect Man coincide in every respect with the principles of right; they measure squarely with all that human logic and the inborn feeling known as conscience show us is right, and other principles could not be those of a Perfect Man.

In the life of every human being the two most important events are birth and death. To these the Christian religion has added a third event in the life of the Perfect Man which it cherishes and observes on Easter. Christianity makes memorable these three events in His life and the three dates are set apart for special observance. Civilization has decreed that the birthday anniversary of some of the great men of every nation shall be fittingly observed as a tribute to their worthy deeds for mankind. In our own country these days mark the anniversary of the birth of Washington and Lincoln, who, while they directed huge military operations, fought for the establishment of principles of right and justice. Their lives were marked by kindliness and magnanimity, and their memory is cherished with other national treasures which the civilized world admires.

Nineteen hundred years from the days of the Perfect Man finds the world engaged in war of proportions hitherto unknown, caused by the attempt of the monarch of one nation to become a world dictator and by force of might to impose his idea of Kultur on all people that they may become his vassals. In doing this he points out to Christian, Jew, and Mohammedan that he is guided by God alone, as he submits to us the instrumentality through which the world is to become a united people. To this extent he places himself on a parity with Jesus Christ, the Perfect Man, whom disciples of the Christian religion accept as the Son of God. For making that claim, Christ was crucified.

At this season the thoughts of Christian religionists turn naturally to the life and teachings of the Perfect Man, but in thousands of homes devotional thoughts must divide the time with thoughts of absent members of the family who if not yet on the battlefield of civilization in Europe are preparing to go there. To most minds the contrast between the Perfect Man and His principles and the man whose repeated public utterances indicate only that he believes himself chosen by God to govern the world is so great that it compels more than passing attention and invites comparison between the two lives to determine whether there are any points of similarity. There are not any. One life is marked by characteristics which develop affection, the other by those which result only in execration. As opposed to gentleness in one life we see savagery in the other; as against meekness there is arrogance; against honesty, insincerity; against love, hate; against kindness, frightfulness. The lives of the revered characters of history including our own national heroes are not in any instance marked by the savagery, arrogance, insincerity, hate and frightfulness which are the predominating and distinguishing traits of the German Emperor who calls himself the present-day agent of God.

Few people think exactly alike on religious matters. They may differ widely on essentials of doctrine or it may be merely on details. On questions affecting right there is no difference of opinion among well-balanced men of any nationality. Anyone having the power to think must at all times make comparisons on matters affecting right and wrong. There is no particular time for such thoughts, which will come to the front as well in the middle of the week as on Sunday. There are certain occasions, however, when thoughts along particular lines must force themselves foremost in the mind and no more appropriate time suggests itself for contrasting the Perfect Man with William Hohenzollern of Prussia than Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lynn received a postal Friday from their son, Private Rankin Lynn, of his safe arrival "somewhere in France."

The golden jubilee of the Knights of Pythias was held in their Castle Hall Friday evening. There was a large attendance. The meeting was opened by an instrumental duet by Mrs. Gillette and Mrs. Zimmerman. Singing, "Star Spangled Banner" and presentation of the flag. Ritualistic ceremonies were conducted by the officers in charge. The services were instructive and impressive. A solo by Miss Ella Lapine was well rendered. An address on "Friendship" was given by George Propheter, which was very interesting, instructive and helpful, bringing before his hearers wonderful truths in his calm, collected and forceful way. Mr Propheter is a scholar of rare ability and brought out points never to be forgotten by the attentive audience, and it is hoped they will be practiced by all. An address by the Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout on "Patriotism" was listened to with great interest and impressions left that will long linger in the minds and hearts of his friends in this village. Instrumental duet, Mrs. Gillette and Mrs. Zimmerman; singing, "America." Refreshments were served. The evening was one long to be remembered on account of the sociability that prevailed and enthusiasm shown by the members of the K. of P.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Does your boy believe in Santa Claus?" "I don't know. He's writing him a letter." "Well?" "But I notice he leaves it around where I can see it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"What's the matter with that guy? When I told him of the hundreds of people who couldn't get street cars, he chuckled and chuckled." "Oh, he owns a taxicab line."—Buffalo Express.

Willie Slimson: "My, but I thought you were a great deal bigger than you are." Featherstone: "What gave you such an idea, Willie?" "Why, sister said that all you did was to take up room."—Life.

"My friend, there is really no excuse for your not looking neat and clean." "Sorry, mister," explained Plodding Peter, "but I'm conserving my bit along wit de rest o' de folks. You jes' happened to hit me on my soapless day."—Washington Star.

Mrs. Kawler—"Then you and young Mr. Sharp are not on speaking terms any more?" Mrs. Blunderby—"No, indeed. The last time I met him I told him my husband had locomotive ataxksia, and the young whippersnapple had the impudence to ask if he whistled at crossings."—Boston Transcript.

One Lost, Three Found.

The scene is a crowded 'bus. A soldier, back from the trenches, sitting in corner near the entrance, puts his hand into his pocket for his fare, and pulls out a shilling and some coppers.

The 'bus jolts violently and to the soldier's dismay, the shilling slips from his fingers just as the lights go out, as they always do in London, in these days, when a bridge is being crossed. The passengers with one accord begin to grope for soldier's shilling. "'Fraid it rolled off, mate," says the conductor.

Then lights go up again, and discover three passengers each holding out the shilling which they have found.—Christian Science Monitor.

Given Away.

"The German corrupt on propaganda," said the brilliant French journalist, Henri La Farge, at a luncheon in Washington, "gives itself away everywhere. It's as bad as Mr. Graft.

"'Oh, George,' said Mrs. Graft, rushing into her husband's office, 'my diamond ring has disappeared, and I can't find it anywhere.'

"'It's all right, Marie,' said Mr. Graft. 'I came across it this morning in my trousers pocket.'"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Not Much Impressed.

"You told me you would give me your answer tonight."

"Did I really do that?" asked the popular beauty.

"Good heavens! Have you forgotten that I asked you to marry me?"

"Why—er—while the maid was doing my hair I kept thinking there was something or other I had promised to tell you tonight, but I couldn't remember what it was."—New York Sun.

A Protest.

"Do you think you can lean to love me?" asked the diffident youth.

"How much money have you?" inquired thre entirely practical girl.

"I beg your pardon. This is a pro[illegible] marriage, not a bet."—Brooklyn Eagle.

DRAFT RIOTS IN QUEBEC.

Mob Wrecks Office of Newspaper Loyal to Country.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Quebec, March 30.—A second outburst of anti-conscription rioting which broke during the night and resulted in the wrecking of a newspaper office, was ended today and the streets cleared by militiamen called out by Mayor Lavigeur.

The mobs swept through the streets, wrecking the offices of the Chronicle, supporter of the conscription act, a paper owned by Major General Sir David Watson, a division commander of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces.

Fire was started in the office of the city registrar, but was quickly extinguished. The outbreak started when crowds interfered with an officer who was rounding up slackers, and it spread until Mayor Lavigeur called upon them to disperse. When their only response was jeering and further threats, he called the militia.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

March 30, 1898.—Judge Sharpe elected attorney for the Ulster County Savings Institution.

Fourteenth Separate Company defeated the Invincibles of New York at basketball 34 to 19.

March 30, 1908.—Yachts E. B. Gardner and Elihu Bunker began trips on Rondout-Glasco route.

The Tri-County Baseball League organized here.

The steamer J. H. Tremper made first trip of season.

New Time and the Churches.

Those who intend to attend the various services of the churches on Easter Sunday would do well to remember that most of the churches will hold services according to new time. If the people will turn their clocks and watches ahead one hour Saturday night and on Sunday arrange their affairs according to "clock time," there will be little confusion. But if they are careless, some will reach their church just in time for the benediction. It may seem strange or even unnecessary to some, but the churches do not want to be "slackers" and have therefore decided it is best to at once conform to the request of our government. Don't be a "slacker" yourself, but get up early and go to church.

Added Hardships.

"Did you have a hard time with the customs people when you landed?"

"I should say so! After the inspectors got through with our baggage the first thing when we got out on the pier, we were met by a searching rain."

PATRIOTISM IN M. E. CONFERENCE

Large Part of Time of Meetings in Newburgh Next Week Will be Devoted to Patriotic Matters.

Patriotic meetings will occupy a conspicuous place in the program of the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which meets in Newburgh next week, Bishop L. B. Wilson presiding. In addition to the regular business of the conference, an important feature will be the presentation of the Centenary World Program by visiting clergy, direct from Centenary headquarters in New York city.

Speeches on the Centenary program will include four main topics:

"Resources of Methodism."

"Can and Will the Church Meet the Present World Emergency?"

"The Home Field."

"The Centenary and the Present World Conflict."

Relationship of the Centenary World Program to the war will be emphasized and the importance of a big scale constructive program to help in our avowed purpose of extending world democracy, and to offset the tragically necessary destruction involved in this great war for democracy. The loyalty of American Methodists to President Wilson and his war program as enunciated in his several messages will be reaffirmed, not only at this conference, but at all the spring conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church all over the United States.

Several of the visiting ministers have been selected as among the most eloquent speakers in the Methodist clergy. They will make patriotic addresses, and it is probable that resolutions will be passed, expressing the spirit of the conference.

Influences of the war upon the future of the church and a constructive program of influence which the church must exert as a result of the war will be considered at length. In deciding to raise a special fund as part of the Centenary World Program provision has been made for war needs. Half a million dollars is to be spent in this country for the soldier boys, strengthening churches in the neighborhood of training camps and co-operating with chaplains and Y. M. C. A. workers for systematic work in the camps.

To make an immediate beginning on the huge task of reconstruction work overseas, a million dollars are wanted for building houses and schools, and helping care for the orphan children of France and Italy. The work of the Methodist Episcopal Church has suffered severely in Udine, Italy, which has been captured by the Austrians, the church buildings there probably having been destroyed.

Official standing is given the relationship of the church to the war by the erection of a war council of the Methodist Episcopal Church, with representatives in Washington who are working in direct co-operation with the government in the departments of justice, food administration, Liberty Loans and War Savings, with the Red Cross, and with the United States Medical Department. The influence of this war council will reach directly from the government in Washington to every chapel and Sunday school of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States.

Bishop Theodore S. Henderson of Detroit, executive officer of the war council, is devoting his entire time this spring to delivering a fervent message of patriotism to all the spring conferences he is able to reach. At the recent conference in Philadelphia, where a special conference service flag was dedicated, Bishop Henderson made a stirring address. He pointed out that today in addition to our Declaration of Independence there is need for a Declaration of Independence of all the nations fighting for democracy. He added that there can be no brotherhood, and no world democracy except through Jesus Christ.

Bishop Henderson reminded his audience that Uncle Sam has lately made a radical change in his publicity policy. The navy recruiting posters used to offer young men "A fine opportunity to see the world." Today they read: "The United States navy needs fighting men, and needs them now." When the church comes to this change of policy, when it stops looking on, and begins to call for fighting men to wage a real fight against the forces of evil, then, and not until then, it may hope to accomplish something worth while.

WEST SHORE GRADE CROSSINGS HEARING

A public hearing at the request of the New York Central R. R. for the purpose of having the two grade crossings at Churchland and the bridge in Wells Myer cut abolished, was held by Public Service Commissioner Fennell in the town hall, Saugerties, Friday morning. The railroad proposed to build a road in conjunction with the town on the west side of the tracks, connecting with the old Kings highway near the Wells Myer place and extending to the Bert Spring property. The town board who were present, through Supervisor John D. Fratsher asked that the road be built through to Mount Marion, and after some discussion the hearing was adjourned, in order to present a new petition, until May 1st.

The railroad was represented B. S. Voorhees of New York, engineer of grade crossings who presented a blue print of the proposed new road, and Amos Van Etten of Kingston, attorney. The American Telegraph & Telephone Co. whose lines abut the property was represented by Frederick Beattys of New York.

County Attorney John W. Eckert and County Engineer James F. Loughran of Kingston, were also present in the interests of the town and county. Benjamin Rowe represented M. E. Donlon, a property owner along the road near the crossing. Quite a number of Churchland and Mt. Marion residents were also present.—Saugerties Post.

Narrow Escape From Death.

Gasoline got the best of the employes in Way's garage at Big Indian Wednesday of last week when a fire stated in the pit and burned Eugene Thompson, an employe, so that the skin of his left arm was burned entirely off and hung in shreds at his wrist. He was helping to overhaul an auto and went under the front end of the car and down into the pit. He no sooner stepped into the bottom than flames leaped up all around him, but he had the presence of mind to crawl out of the pit and emerged from the garage with his clothing afire in several places.

Nearly Poisoned Child.

Thursday some one poisoned a dog belonging to David Hiltebrant of Saugerties, and Hiltebrant's three-year old son nearly met a similar fate. A bottle of carbolic acid was thrown in the yard and the boy got hold of it and began to taste it. The acid burned his mouth and his cries attracted his mother's attention who knocked the bottle from the boy's hand just in time to prevent him swallowing some of the acid.

ROSENDALE CEMENT INVOLVED IN SUITS

Two interesting cases involving the quality of the celebrated Bridge Brand of Rosendale cement were disposed of by Judge Rudd at the trial term of the supreme court, which adjourned this week. The first was Lawrence R. Pettinati against the Consolidated Rosendale Cement Company.

Pettinati, a contractor of Brooklyn, bought cement of the company which he claimed to have used on two contracts at Dundee Lake, New Jersey, and which turned out to be lacking in cohesive quality in that it did not set and remained soft and muddy, and that as a result he sustained damages to the amount of $1,550, which he was compelled to pay in consequence of its defective quality, to recover which he brought suit in Kings county. The company applied at a special term in Brooklyn to have the case removed to Ulster county, and succeeded in having it brought here. It defended the action upon the ground that the cement sold to Pettinati was perfect; that it was of the standard Bridge Brand; that Pettinati fully was instructed how to use it; that if it failed to set it was entirely due to his fault in disregarding the instructions given him for mixing it.

When the case was called at the opening and again at the close of the term, neither Pettinati or his counsel appeared, and the complaint was dismissed. Forest Chilton of Brooklyn was Pettinati's attorney; Judge Clearwater represented the cement company.

The other case was that of the Consolidated Rosendale Cement Company against the Builders' Brick and Supply Company, Incorporated, of the Bronx. This company bought 999 1-3 barrels of the Brooklyn Bridge Brand cement of the Consolidated, for which it did not pay, also alleging that the cement was defective. It defended by Phillips & Avery of New York its attorneys, but did not appear at the opening of the term, or when the case was reached, with the result that judgment was given for the Consolidated for $961.-74, besides costs. Judge Clearwater also was counsel for the cement company in this case.

HURLEY.

Hurley, March 30.—The local Red Cross Society has planned a clam chowder supper for the benefit of the work of the society. The supper will be held on Friday evening, April 5, in the basement of the church. The price of the supper is 25 cents. Besides the chowder, the "side fixins'" include beans, pickles, sandwiches, salad; there will also be ice cream and cake for those who wish it as an extra. The assurance of a good time is here promised.

The Easter vacation on time has brought home a number of our home folk. Miss Cornelia DeWitt came up from Brooklyn; Miss Ellen Smith from school work in New Jersey; Miss Ethel Elmendorf from school work in Long Island.

Loughran Elmendorf came home from camp to spend a few hours with his parents. His sudden appearance in church, on Sunday morning, was a surprise for all.

Mrs. Simpson spent a few days with her parents at the Augustus Elmendorf homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roosa came up for the week to assist at the Roosa auction.

The auction and the weather brought out a goodly number of people: there was a large attendance of women from all over the village.

Mrs. and Miss Read of New York city are spending their usual Easter week at Mrs. Markle's.

Mrs. Brink has had as visitors at her house, Miss Small and Miss Haggarty.

Little by little, the village realizes its participation in the world war, when its boys return home on a furlough; the latest is Fred Lockwood, stationed on the U. S. S. Louisiana, at Norfolk, Virginia; he surprised his family as well as the village by suddenly appearing here early, Tuesday morning. He is learning radio work, preparatory to a rating as an expert and consequent assignment on one of the numerous vessels, now or soon to be in the government service.

Miss Sheely spent a few days at the DeWitt homestead.

Miss Riseley of Woodstock is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ostrander.

Mrs. Mary Ellsworth, who has been an old time resident of the village, has at last decided to move and has taken up her home with her daughter's family in Campbell Hall.

Mrs. Van Dyke, a sister of Mrs. Eckert, is visiting at the Frank Snyder home. Her niece is also with her.

There was a special meeting of the Ladies' Missionary Society at the parsonage on Friday afternoon. References were made to the soldiers and Mrs. Houghtaling, Mrs. Otten, a visitor at the Ten Eyck home, and S. F. Ten Eyck, favored the gathering with patriotic songs. Needless to say they were highly enjoyed and appreciated; not the least interesting and pleasing was a song by a little friend of Mrs. Silas Elmendorf. There was a large number present; those who could not attend missed a rare occasion.

Miss Mericle is also a Easter visitor, stopping at Mrs. Markle's.

Ministerial Association.

The Kingston Ministerial Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Monday at 2 p. m., new time. Business of considerable importance will be considered and every member should be present.

Looks Reasonable.

Church—"They say drinking coffee will keep people awake. Do you believe it?" Gotham—"Most assuredly I do. That's the reason they serve it at a dinner just before the speeches."

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scare and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Sunday.

Breakfast—*Baked apples with corn syrup; Rolled oats with top milk; *Hot corn pones; Coffee.

Dinner—Roast beef with brown gravy; Browned potatoes; *Lemon carrots; Victory bread; *Baked Indian and apple pudding.

Supper—English monkey on toast; Victory bread; Apricots; *Peanut buckwheat cookies.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

*(May be omitted and still leave the meal balanced.)

Lemon Carrots.

Old carrots may be used for this dish, and are really better than the new ones. Pare and cut into dice, and simmer in cold water until tender but not pulpy. Drain, return to the fire, and for 1 pint of carrots add 1 teaspoon of minced parsley, 1 teaspoon of corn syrup, ½ teaspoon of paprika, 1 tablespoon of butter and the juice of ½ lemon. Heat thoroughly, shaking the dish now and then so that each piece of the vegetable will be well coated with the dressing.

Baked Indian and Apple Pudding.

One-fourth cup cornmeal, 1 pint milk ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon ginger, ¼ cup molasses, 1 apple.

Sift the corn meal slowly into the scalded milk, stirring constantly. Cook in a double boiler 30 minutes. Add salt, ginger and molasses. Put the mixture into a greased baking dish and bake one hour in a slow oven. Slice the apple and stir it into the pudding. Bake until the apple is tender.

English Monkey.

One cup stale bread crumbs, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon fat, ½ cup mild cheese, grated or cut fine, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne.

Soak the bread crumbs for 15 minutes in the milk. Melt the fat, add the cheese and when it has melted add the soaked crumbs, the egg that has been slightly beaten and the seasonings. Cook the mixture for 3 minutes and pour over toasted bread.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books, may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Monday—Wheatless Day.

Breakfast—*Stewed apricots; Potato griddle cakes; Coffee.

Lunch or Supper—Potatoes au gratin with parsley; *Reheated corn pones; *Orange and onion salad; Cocoa.

Dinner—Stuffed cabbage; Mashed potatoes; *Apple snow pudding.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

*(May be omitted and still leave the meal balanced.)

The onion is always referred to as a "healthy vegetable," and it justifies its reputation to the fullest extent. It is a vegetable of particular value. But besides is health promoting qualities, it is of especial aid to the homemaker as a flavoring agent. Now that meat substitutes are being used extensively, the onion is invaluable because it imparts flavor to beans and similar dishes which takes the place of meat. At present the onion is one of the cheapest vegetables on the market because of the fact that it is raised in New York state and does not have to be imported, and spring onions are coming into tempt the jaded appetite.

Potato Griddle Cakes.

Three-quarters cup mashed potatoes; 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon corn syrup 1 cup milk, 1¼ cups flour, sifted, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg, tablespoon fat, melted.

Mix the ingredients in the order in which they are given. Bake the cakes on a hot greased griddle.

Orange and Onion Salad.

Dice the onion rather finely and cut the orange into small pieces using about one-third to two-thirds orange.

Stuffed Cabbage.

Cut out the stalk end of a head of cabbage, leaving a hollow shell. Grind 2 cups of left-over meat (or use uncooked meat); add onion, 1 cup of bread crumbs, soaked, and 1 egg, well beaten. Shape the mixture into balls, arrange them in the cabbage, add strips of sweet pepper, and steam until the cabbage is tender. Serve with left-over gravy or tomato sauce.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books, may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Good Advice.

Visitor—My poor friend, pause to consider when next you are tempted. Take time, my dear man, take time.

Convict—That's wot I done. I did take time—I took a watch.

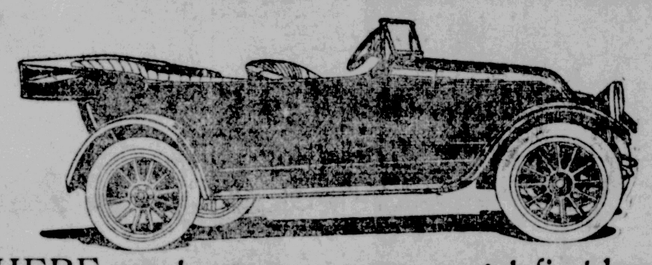
Stable manure applied during the winter on land sown with rye which is to be plowed down next spring, will materially add to the supply of organic matter in the soil. The rye will prevent any loss from leaching.

Theory May Yet Be Proved.

According to one theory, primit. man came to America by a land brid from the tablelands of Asia, in sear of new hunting grounds. "It is not be inferred," says Professor Wissle "that the new world native is a direc descendant of the present Asiatic Mo golian, for the differentiation is ev dently remote." Is it not possible shall find that it was the America type that diverged into strains tha passed to Asia?—Chicago Examiner.

DON'T TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT--REASON IT OUT YOURSELF WHY EXPERIENCE DEMANDS LIGHT WEIGHT.



THERE are two ways you may get first-hand information as to why the trend today is towards light weight.

One way is to buy a heavy car and find just how expensive the upkeep is. The other way is to know the kind of car the man who discards a heavy car is looking for.

Then you will understand the whys and wherefores back of the popularity of light weight.

Invariably the search for a fine light-weight car leads to the Franklin---the only light-weight car with proven records of unusual economy for gasoline, tires and oil.

A Franklin Owner sticks to the Franklin Car, not alone for economy, but because scientific light weight carries with it safety, reliabilty and comfort.

Again we say---don't take our word for this. You are probably a car owner yourself--or, perhaps, are acquainted with several motorists and can verify the truth of this statement.

We merely suggest that you go thoroughly into this matter of scientific light weight before investing in any car--including the Franklin.

SUMMER WEATHER OVER IN FRANCE

Harry Demgen Who is Doing His Bit in the Medical Department Writes an Interesting Letter to a Friend at Home.

Mr. Sutton has received the following letter from Harry W. Demgen, who is in service in France:

N. R. Sutton, Foreman.
Care of Fuller Shirt Co.
Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Sutton:

I am not writing you this time to make up some more of those classy silk shirts, and you know what loud patterns I pick out; making the fellows ask so many questions as to where I got them, etc.

I have been over here now almost three months and I am feeling better than ever. We have a fine place here. I like my work. It's very interesting and is a great experience for me. It is the best of training for young men.

The work I am doing in the office here is about the same that I did in the plant. We have a large office force and there are some fine fellows here from all over the states. We work from 8 to 5 and have Sundays off. We sleep in a Hotel. The eats are good; all American food.

In each room in the hotel is a large fireplace which we use a great deal evenings. The mornings and nights are a little cold, but the rest of the day is warm, just like summer time. Seems odd to receive letters from the states telling about zero weather.

What's the news from the states? Write me a letter when you have time.

I am learning to do some new things, such as sewing on buttons, making fire in the fireplace, and other things that I never did at home. You have been in the service so you know what it is. But I can state that we have a very fine place at the depot and the surroundings are fine.

The government allotment plan is a good thing. I made my allotment to have $15 sent home each month. We are usually broke in France here. The French francs go fast. We have not realized yet the real value of a franc, but the French know all right. We expect pay day soon.

We enjoy ourselves Sundays by taking long walks in the country. The country is beautiful now.

We have a Y. M. C. A. here and they make us fellows feel at home. We have had several enjoyable concerts here with the artists direct from Paris. Also some singers from the Boston Opera Company. On Saturday evenings the boys at the depot give an entertainment consisting of boxing, singing, dancing, etc.

It is now 12:55 a. m., nearly time to get back to work. We are busy today.

I received a few letters today from the states and believe me I was very glad to get them, and to hear that the folks at home are all well.

I have met several fellows from Kingston here: Grant Brinnier, Ennist, Kaplan, Smith and Styles. We only had a few moments to talk over old times.

The weather was fine on the way over. Most of the boys were sea sick, but I escaped. On board the boat we had entertainments every morning at 11 o'clock. We only got two meals a day on the boat, but had a canteen and I spent some money.

The auto riding and cigars are the things I miss here. Wish I had the car here. There are some fine French cars here.

Hope this letter finds you well. Remember me to the office force and to Mr. Fuller. Tell them I am feeling better than ever. Hope to see you all again when I return, which I trust will be soon.

Yours truly,
(Signed) H. W. DEMGEN.

GRASS WAS GREEN IN FEBRUARY

Over in France—Charles Bauer, Who is in Service "Over There," Writes Home to His Mother.

Mrs. K. Bauer of 35 Abbey street has received the following letter from her son, Charles Bauer, who is doing his bit in France:

Dear Mother:—I arrived safe and I am feeling fine. It is warm here during the day but cold at night. When it rains here you can walk in mud up to your knees. Have you much snow in Kingston? I don't believe that it snows over here, for when we landed here in February the grass was green.

While coming over on the boat we received cigarettes and tobacco, donated by Paul Keith and Edward Albee. Keith is the man that operates so many theaters in New York city and Brooklyn.

Give my love to all and keep a lot for yourself. I hope that you will answer my letters promptly, as your letters have a long ways to come.

From your loving son,
(Signed) CHARLES BAUER.

Address—3rd Company, 4th Prov. Recruiting Battalion, American Expeditionary Force, via New York.

Mrs. Conrad Hull was conveyed from 25 Snyder avenue, to the Kingston City Hospital in the city ambulance early this morning.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to relatives and friends and neighbors for their many floral tributes and spiritual offerings and kind expressions of sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement.

INCOME TAX MEN TO STAY OVER MONDAY

Because Last Day of the Month Falls on Sunday, But Returns Must Positively be Filed on Monday.

On account of the last day of March falling on Sunday, Deputy Internal Revenue Collectors LeFevre and Ward will remain in Kingston on Monday to finish up the work connected with income tax matters and taxpayers who cannot file their returns by tonight will be given an opportunity of seeing them at the court house on Monday when all returns must be filed.

The time in which to file returns was extended from the first of March for one month because of the delay in getting blanks from the government printing office at Washington where the extra printing required by all departments prevented the work from being turned out on time.

Monday will be the last day on which to file income tax returns and anyone who fails to file a return by that time will be liable to the penalty for failure to do so, which is not less than $20 or more than $1,000, and in addition 50 per cent of the amount of tax due. For making a false or fraudulent return the penalty is not exceeding $2,000 or not exceeding one year's imprisonment, or both, and in addition 100 per cent of the tax evaded. The tax must be paid on or before June 15th.

FURNITURE NEEDED FOR NEW DISPENSARY

Friday afternoon the special committee of the Ulster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis, composed of Dr. O'Meara, Dr. Dederer and Dr. Gates, with Mr. Fowler ex-officio, accompanied by Dr. Prest of Albany made a careful investigation of the tuberculosis dispensary problem. It was finally decided that the center of the city was the logical location for such a dispensary and certain rooms on Broadway near the West Shore and Kingston's factory section, were looked at. The committee will soon make a report of its findings to the executive council, regarding the establishment of a tuberculosis dispensary.

In the meantime, since it is so near spring house cleaning time, it is quite possible that a number of individuals in the city may have such few articles of furniture as would be needed, that they would be willing to give or loan for the equipment of the office and examining room, thus releasing the money for the purchase of such articles for actual tuberculosis work. The articles needed will be several chairs suitable to such a place; a desk or flat topped table with drawers; a screen; and most important of all, scales. The scales do not have to be special hospital scales, but any scales which will accurately weigh people. As soon as the executive council decides upon the location, The Freeman will tell where such articles as mentioned above may be sent, or will be called for and taken, either if they are given or loaned. Please be ready to help out if you can!

A. B. C. D. E. Floor Committee.

Among all the important committees necessary to make successful such a ball as the annual Benedictine Charity Dance—Easter Monday evening, one of the most important, especially when there will be as big a crowd as the advance sale of tickets indicates, is the "Floor Committee." That committee will be comprised of the following gentlemen, thus doubly assuring a good time to the dancers: Hon. A. J. Cook, chairman, Hon. Charles W. Walton, Walter L. Fales, Hon. Edgar T. Shultis, N. D. J. Murphy, Dr. Mark O'Meara, James O'Connor, Dr. John F. Larkin, Thomas A. McNelis, E. B. Loughran, John B. Kearney, Judge N. Frank O'Reilly, Peter Barmann, Jr., Dr. John G. O'Leary, James V. Halloran; Dr Samuel Levitas, John J Goldrick.

The music, which will be provided by the Musicians' Union, will be of the best and most danceable.

Army or Navy Men Invited.

The Auxiliary of the Benedictine Sanitarium, which is giving this dance for the benefit of the Charity Ward of the sanitarium, herewith invites any man in service, and whose uniform will be his letter of introduction, to be their guests at this dance next Monday evening, and the door keepers will be instructed to admit such without the purchase of a ticket.

True Selfhood.

To earnestly and consistently believe that everything and all is by the Self and of the Self and for the Self and to believe that Self is essentially perfect, all-pervading, all-containing, all-including, means the beginning of the true and lasting realization of every hope. There would be no more power apart from self to fear, to hinder or to help. It would mean the end of judgment and condemnation of others. No more hatred, envy, jealousy, hypocrisy, malice or greed; no regrets of the past nor fears of the future could longer endure. Man would be reconciled with himself and consequently with all, for the Self is One. He would come to regard all things as working together for good. All abnormal stress would be removed from his life; all unnatural strain and friction relieved. Restlessness and strife would gradually disappear and the sun of righteousness would arise with healing in his wings.—From Selfhood by G. Rupert Leech.

HELPFUL IDEAS.

In buying a chicken or fowl it is more economical to buy a large one than one that is small, as the proportion of meat to the bone is greater. The bones may be covered with water after the meat has been served, with a piece of celery, a slice of onion with a bit of rice or barley making a good soup. Any bits of meat may be used in combination with apple, potato or other vegetable for a salad, or used as stuffing for boiled onions and then baked or in a white sauce on toast. Other ways will occur to the progressive woman, to dispose of bits of chicken or other meats making palatable dishes.

Cheese is a food which should be more commonly used. It is highly nutritious, very concentrated and with no waste. Compared to many of our high-priced meats it is economical and a pound of cheese equals two pounds of meat as to food value.

Cornmeal Muffins.—Sift together three times one and a half cupfuls of flour, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, one and a half tablespoonfuls of cornmeal, half a teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then add three-fourths of a cupful of milk, two well-beaten eggs, three tablespoonfuls of melted shortening, mix and beat well, then pour into buttered muffin pans and bake twenty minutes.

Coconut Indian Pudding.—Mix together one tablespoonful of fresh grated coconut, two tablespoonfuls of Indian meal, one tablespoonful of minute tapioca, one-half cupful of molasses, one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of shortening, one quart of milk and salt to taste. Pour into a buttered dish and bake two hours. Serve hot with cream.

Fig and Nut Pudding.—Stir a half teaspoonful of salt into two cupfuls of boiling water, add a half cupful of sugar and stir in enough graham flour to make a mush. Big Tithes for Bishop.

A champion pluralist was Bishop Luxmore of St. Asaph. To his own use he contrived to impound the tithes of some two dozen parishes, which gave him an annual income of nearly £20,000. A staunch believer was the worthy bishop in the maxim that blood is thicker than water. For his eldest son, whom he made dean of St. Asaph, he obtained other ecclesiastical appointments which brought him in over $8,000 yearly. A second son had preferments to the tune of a mere $2,000, while a nephew had to be content with a beggarly pittance of $1,000. It was reckoned that the four Luxmores, who flourished in the early years of last century, drew from their manifold appointments the sum of about $125,000 yearly.—London Times.

Moslem Polygamy.

The only passage in the Koran that refers to the subjects of polygamy is the third verse of the fourth Sura. It reads: "And if ye are apprehensive that ye shall not deal fairly with orphans, then of other women who seem good in your eyes marry but two, or three, or four; and if ye still fear that ye shall not act equitably, then one only; or the slaves whom ye have acquired; this will make justice on your part easier." Since at the time of Mahomet the Arabians were allowed to marry as many wives as they pleased, this passage, instead of being an encouragement of polygamy, must be interpreted rather as a diplomatic recommendation of monogamy on account of the difficulty of realizing the conditions involved with the privilege.

Postal Service Development.

As late as the fifteenth century butchers or drovers who went about buying cattle were the principal carriers of private correspondence. In the twelfth century the University of Paris established a body of pedestrian messengers, who bore letters from its thousands of students to the various countries of Europe from which they came and brought to them the money they needed, for the prosecution of their studies. The great development of commerce following the crusades and the geographical discoveries of the Italians, Portuguese and Spaniards created a necessity for business correspondence about the beginning of the sixteenth century.

Sprat.

As long ago as Elizabeth's time "sprat" was used as a term of contempt and as an article of diet it has always been deemed but humble fare, with which, however, good economists are very well content today, remarks the London Chronicle. But though despised in its adult state, it is in its infancy that highly esteemed delicacy, whitebait. We were a long time, however, in recognizing the fact, for naturalists disputed among themselves whether the honor should be accorded to the fry of shad, pilchards, or herring and only lately did they decide that it belonged to the herring and sprat.

For the Traveler.

It is a good plan to secure a telephone book before returning home from any place, especially if you have done much business or made new friends. One is obtained easily for a tip at the hotel, and is invaluable for quick reference to verify addresses, firm names, etc. One from Bermuda, for instance, has become useful to one traveler to insure accuracy in names and localities, and is always ready to supply information often obtainable in no other way at short notice.

Daily Thought.

It may happen that I shall find grace in that which brings sorrow to you; and that which to you speaks gladness may be fraught with affliction for me. But no matter—into your joy will enter all that I say of beauty and comfort, and into my joy there will pass all that was great in your sadness.—Maeterlinck.

CANFIELD SAYS TREES MUST BE CUT

Policy to Have New Trees But Owners Must Understand City Has Right to Remove Trees Condemned by Bull Mooser Burhans, Tree Expert.

Office of the Mayor,
Kingston, N. Y., March 30th, 1918.
Editor Freeman:

I desire to set the public right in reference to the rights and the attitude of the board of public works about our city shade trees, as the article in your paper of last evening may mislead some people.

Any one who believes that the board is destitute of power to eliminate a tree within the street line is mistaken. The street includes the sidewalks and runs from fence-line to fence line, considering the fence-line as the property line. The property owner has certain general easements in all the public streets of the city and special easements as to the street fronting his property. These easements or rights are the creatures of the law of this state. The law declares the easements and rights and can not only define them, but can qualify, restrict, modify and limit them. The law can declare that the abutting land owner has a limited easement, or that he has an absolute easement.

It is true that the federal constitution prohibits any state from depriving any person of property without due process of law. However, the state courts alone decide what are easements within the meaning of the federal constitution as to their respective states, other than in a few exceptional cases. There is no question but what the property owner has certain rights in the street which fronts his property, which are protected by the constitution such as the right of access, of light, and of air. Property owners lay the sidewalks in front of their properties walks in front of their respective properties at their own expense. The city can compel the property owner to lay a sidewalk. If the sidewalk requires repairing or relaying, the city can require him to attend to it. If the sidewalk is beyond repair, the city can require him to remove it at his expense and lay another sidewalk of the same kind or of a different kind.

Now, as to sidewalks, hitching posts, stepping stones and shade trees, all of which are usually placed in the street by the property owner, he has certain rights not shared by the public at large arising out of the relation of his lot to the street. He has the right to all of the special benefits which come and flow therefrom to his property, free from any interference by any wrong-doer or any person; but subject, absolutely, to the paramount right of the public represented by the municipal government. These rights as to trees, stepping stones, and posts in front of one's property and in the street are subject to the interference of no one except the official representatives of the public. However, they are subject to the public enjoyment. No property owner can have a private hitching post or stepping stone upon the sidewalk, although the public can regulate them or may [illegible] their removal if they interfere with public travel or are otherwise objectionable.

Therefore, the rights of a property owner in reference to trees in the street infront of his premises are paramount to other persons or trespassers. The rights of the city authorities, representing the public, are paramount, however, to the rights of the property owner. The property owner may recover damages from any person or company for injuries to his trees by leakage of gas or cutting or by a horse or in any other manner, if occasioned without authority of the proper municipal officials. In such case the city also has a right of action to recover the general public damage occasioned. The highest court of our state defines the rights of a property owner and of a city in reference to shade trees as follows: "So long as a hitching post or a shade tree is physically and legally a part of the street, he (meaning the property owner), is entitled to all the special benefits which flow therefrom to his lot, free from interference by a wrong-doer, but subject to removal by the municipal government."

It is a dangerous thing for people to be led to believe that they can defy constituted authority and especially so in these serious days. Besides the rights of the city as determined by our courts, the board of public works has been expressly given and delegated by the legislature absolute control of our public shade trees. Our charter provides that the board shall have and exercise the power and duty "to compel the owners of any premises to property protect, spray or trim or to cut down, any tree, shrub, or plant within or partly within the line of any street or highway, and in case of the refusal or neglect of the owner so to do, to cause the same to be done at the expense of the owner and to cause such expense to be collected as herein provided."

I have dwelt upon this subject at some length as this is probably the first time since I have held an official position that the paramount rights of the city has been questioned. It is important to the city, and to the property owner as well, that each understands its or his own respective rights, and that each lives up to them.

I do not desire to convey the impression that the board of public works intends to act arbitrarily in this matter. It desires and expects to act justly and fairly. It will act, however, as it is its duty to act, not from the standpoint of any individual, but from the standpoint of the public, not from the standpoint of the present time alone, but from the standpoint of the future as well as the present.

The board recognizes the uses and purposes and the value of suitable shade trees, a suitable shade tree, whether it be ten years or one hundred years old, is not one which is rotten, decayed or hollow. It may stand for several years to come. If not interefered with it might require quite a few years before becoming dead. In such case it would gradually decay, first one limb and then another going. Shade trees adorn and add charm to a city and shelter the home in the summer from heat and dust. They increase the value of the properties in front of which they are planted, and of the whole street, and of the entire city. They must be desirable trees, suitably planted, and adapted to the soil and surroundings.

I regret to state that many property owners become quite indignant and once in a while abusively indignant because their trees have been condemned after careful examination by a tree expert. They fail to take into consideration the fact that the trees have been condemned usually because the property owner, or the prior owners of the property, failed to properly care for them or to take any care of them.

I have given quite some attention to the questions of public shade trees. It has to be considered from the standpoint of twenty years and upwards from now as well as today. We should have at least fifteen thousand suitable shade trees along our streets. These trees would be worth from one to two millions of dollars to the value of the properties within the city.

It would appear from such tree opinion as I have been able to obtain during the past four years that Norway maple trees are probably best suited for our city and our soil. Other hard maple trees are desirable. They are hardy trees and have few insect enemies. They should be planted from forty to fifty feet apart. The elm may be the most beautiful shade tree, but it is suited to streets where the line between buildings is about one hundred feet or more. It is commonly known that soft maples, poplars, catalpas, and other similar trees should never be planted in city streets.

It will be the attitude of the board to request co-operation upon the part of the property owners. Where a tree has been condemned as being hollow or rotten, the property owner will receive a notice giving him thirty days to comply with the board. If he desires it, the board will remove the tree without expense or risk to him. If the property owner will submit any proper evidence to the board tending to show that the tree expert of the board is in error, the board will carefully consider it. It will be the policy of the board where a tree is removed, to request the property owner to plant another suitable tree. No tree can be planted without the consent of the board, and no tree can be removed without like consent. If the property owner refuses or neglects to plant a tree in place of the one removed, I will ask the board to have same planted at its expense. The same action will be taken to plant trees in other places where they are needed. In many cases where present shade is desired, the property owner can plant a new tree, and during the first few years of its growth, the old tree could be permitted to remain, providing the property owner cares for it and gives it proper attention.

It is my policy and desire that Kingston may pre-eminently become the city of beautiful trees. To assume that position, the city must take a courageous stand to remove all decayed and rotten trees in order that it may plant other suitable and adaptable trees. Otherwise, twenty years from now, many of the present trees will have decayed into uselessness, and our city will be barren except in spots. The trees belong to the city and the property owner. If the property owner does not take care of them, the city must. There is no easier or cheaper way the city can add to its assessing value, because if the trees add one to two millions of dollars to the value of the properties, it follows that the assessing value is increased correspondingly. In other words the city would receive in return in one year after the maturity of the trees, much more than the original cost.

Any property owner will find that the board will be glad to co-operate with him and to help him, if possible, to retain his trees, especially for the present. The property owner, however, should show a graceful disposition to co-operate to the same extent, and also be as fair and reasonable as he expects the board to be toward him.

Respectfully,
PALMER CANFIELD, JR.

JAPAN WILL KEEP OUT OF SIBERIA

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, March 30.—American diplomacy apparently has scored another victory. Advices reaching diplomatic quarters today indicate that Japan has definitely accepted the view of this country and will not intervene in Siberia.

According to these dispatches as a result of the conferences which have been in progress in Tokio for the last ten days it has been agreed that there is no serious menace for Japan in the Siberian developments and the premier and foreign minister have let it be known that all aggressive plans have been dropped.

Japan maintains her right to take any and all steps which may be necessary to protect her interests in the Far East and in this connection considers the interests of China intertwined with hers. But while the Siberian situation remains as it now is there will be no invasion of Siberia. Inasmuch as this is the position which the United States has held all along the two governments would seem to be in complete accord on the subject.

In this connection officials made it plain today that the position of the United States has all along been that Japan had every right to intervene in Siberia if her interests were menaced. But the information which came to the president was directly opposed to that which had been cited as making action by Japan imperative.

Where reports were current in Tokio, Paris and London that the German war prisoners had been organized and armed to move against Vladivostock and capture all of the supplies stored there advices sent to the president by Ambassador Francis, whose trusted agents were all through Siberia, was to the effect that there was no such danger. And the United States contented itself with collecting all of this information and presenting it confidentially to the Japanese government in a most informal manner.

That it was convincing seems to be borne out by the reports received here today that Japan has definitely abandoned for the present her plans of mobilization and the landing of a big army in Siberia.

ROSENDALE CEMENT INVOLVED IN SUITS

Two interesting cases involving the quality of the celebrated Bridge Brand of Rosendale cement were disposed of by Judge Rudd at the trial term of the supreme court, which adjourned this week. The first was Lawrence R. Pettinati against the Consolidated Rosendale Cement Company.

Pettinati, a contractor of Brooklyn, bought cement of the company which he claimed to have used on two contracts at Dunder Lake, New Jersey, and which turned out to be lacking in cohesive quality in that it did not set and remained soft and muddy, and that as a result he sustained damages to the amount of $1,550, which he was compelled to pay in consequence of its defective quality, to recover which he brought suit in Kings county. The company applied at a special term in Brooklyn to have the case removed to Ulster county, and succeeded in having it brought here. It defended the action upon the ground that the cement sold to Pettinati was perfect; that it was of the standard Bridge Brand; that Pettinati fully was instructed how to use it; that if it failed to set it was entirely due to his fault in disregarding the instructions given him for mixing it.

When the case was called at the opening and again at the close of the term, neither Pettinati or his counsel appeared, and the complaint was dismissed. Forest Chilton of Brooklyn was Pettinati's attorney; Judge Clearwater represented the cement company.

The other case was that of the Consolidated Rosendale Cement Company against the Builders' Brick and Supply Company, Incorporated, of the Bronx. This company bought 984 1-4 barrels of the Brooklyn Bridge Brand cement of the Consolidated, for which it did not pay, also alleging that the cement was defective. It defended by Phillips & Avery of New York its attorneys, but did not appear at the opening of the term, or when the case was reached, with the result that judgment was given for the Consolidated for $961.-74, besides costs. Judge Clearwater also was counsel for the cement company in this case.

HURLEY.

Hurley, March 30.—The local Red Cross Society has planned a clam chowder supper for the benefit of the work of the society. The supper will be held on Friday evening, April 5, in the basement of the church. The price of the supper is 25 cents. Besides the chowder, the "side fixins'" include beans, pickles, sandwiches, salad; there will also be ice cream and cake for those who wish it as an extra. The assurance of a good time is here promised.

The Easter vacation on time has brought home a number of our home folk. Miss Cornelia DeWitt came up from Brooklyn; Miss Ellen Smith from school work in New Jersey; Miss Ethel Elmendorf from school work in Long Island.

Loughran Elmendorf came home from camp to spend a few hours with his parents. His ... pearance in church, on Sunday morning, was a surprise for all.

Mrs. Simpson spent a few days with her parents at the Augustus Elmendorf homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roosa came up for the week to assist at the Roosa auction.

The auction and the weather brought out a goodly number of people; there was a large attendance of women from all over the village.

Mrs. and Miss Read of New York city are spending their usual Easter week at Mrs. Markle's.

Mrs. Brink has had as visitors at her house, Miss Small and Miss Haggarty.

Little by little, the village realizes its participation in the world war, when its boys return home on a furlough; the latest is Fred Lockwood, stationed on the U. S. S. Louisiana, at Norfolk, Virginia; he surprised his family as well as the village by suddenly appearing here early Tuesday morning. He is learning radio work, preparatory to a rating as an expert and consequent assignment on one of the numerous vessels, now or soon to be in the government service.

Miss Sheely spent a few days at the DeWitt homestead.

Miss Riseley of Woodstock is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ostrander.

Mrs. Mary Ellsworth, who has been an old time resident of the village, has at last decided to move and has taken up her home with her daughter's family in Campbell Hall.

Mrs. Van Dyke, a sister of Mrs. Eckert, is visiting at the Frank Snyder home. Her niece is also with her.

There was a special meeting of the Ladies' Missionary Society at the parsonage on Friday afternoon. References were made to the soldiers and Mrs. Houghtaling, Mrs. Otten, a visitor at the Ten Eyck home, and S. F. Ten Eyck, favored the gathering with patriotic songs. Needless to say they were highly enjoyed and appreciated; not the least interesting and pleasing was a song by a little friend of Mrs. Silas Elmendorf. There was a large number present; those who could not attend missed a rare occasion.

Miss Merlie is also a Easter visitor, stopping at Mrs. Markle's.

Ministerial Association.

The Kingston Ministerial Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Monday ... 2 p. m., new time. Business of considerable importance will be considered and every member should be present.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus, in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Sunday.

Breakfast—*Baked apples with corn syrup; Rolled oats with top milk; *Hot corn pones; Coffee.

Dinner—Roast beef with brown gravy; Browned potatoes; *Lemon carrots; Victory bread; *Baked Indian and apple pudding.

Supper—English monkey on toast; Victory bread, Apricots; *Peanut buckwheat cookies.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

*(May be omitted and still leave the meal balanced.)

Lemon Carrots.

Old carrots may be used for this dish, and are really better than the new ones. Pare and cut into dice, and simmer in cold water until tender but not pulpy. Drain, return to the fire, and for 1 pint of carrots add 1 teaspoon of minced parsley, 1 teaspoon of corn syrup, ½ teaspoon of paprika, 1 tablespoon of butter and the juice of ½ lemon. Heat thoroughly, shaking the dish now and then so that each piece of the vegetable will be well coated with the dressing.

Baked Indian and Apple Pudding.

One-fourth cup cornmeal, 1 pint milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon ginger, ¼ cup molasses, 1 apple.

Sift the corn meal slowly into the scalded milk, stirring constantly. Cook in a double boiler 20 minutes. Add salt, ginger and molasses. Put the mixture into a greased baking dish and bake one hour in a slow oven. Slice the apple and stir it into the pudding. Bake until the apple is tender.

English Monkey.

One cup stale bread crumbs, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon fat, ½ cup mild cheese, grated or cut fine, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne.

Soak the bread crumbs for 15 minutes in the milk. Melt the fat, add the cheese and when it has melted add the soaked crumbs, the egg that has been slightly beaten and the seasonings. Cook the mixture for 3 minutes and pour over toasted bread.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books, may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Monday—Wheatless Day.

Breakfast—*Stewed apricots; Potato griddle cakes; Coffee.

Lunch or Supper—Potatoes au gratin with parsley; *Reheated corn pones; *Orange and onion salad; Cocoa.

Dinner—Stuffed cabbage; Mashed potatoes; *Apple snow pudding.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

*(May be omitted and still leave the meal balanced.)

The onion is always referred to as a "healthy vegetable," and it justifies its reputation to the fullest extent. It is a vegetable of particular value. But besides is health promoting qualities, it is of especial aid to the homemaker as a flavoring agent. Now that meat substitutes are being used extensively, the onion is invaluable because it imparts flavor to beans and similar dishes which takes the place of meat. At present the onion is one of the cheapest vegetables on the market because of the fact that it is raised in New York state and does not have to be imported, and spring onions are coming into tempt the jaded appetite.

Potato Griddle Cakes.

Three-quarters cup mashed potatoes; 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon corn syrup 1 cup milk, 1½ cups flour, sifted, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg, tablespoon fat, melted.

Mix the ingredients in the order in which they are given. Bake the cakes on a hot greased griddle.

Orange and Onion Salad.

Dice the onion rather finely and cut the orange into small pieces using about one-third to two-thirds orange.

Stuffed Cabbage.

Cut out the stalk end of a head of cabbage, leaving a hollow shell. Grind 2 cups of left-over meat (or use uncooked meat); add onion, 1 cup of bread crumbs, soaked, and 1 egg, well beaten. Shape the mixture into balls, arrange them in the cabbage, add strips of sweet pepper, and steam until the cabbage is tender. Serve with left-over gravy or tomato sauce.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books, may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Good Advice.

Visitor—My poor friend, pause to consider when next you are tempted. Take time, my dear man, take time.

Convict—That's wot I done. I did take time—I took a watch.

MANURE APPLIED IN WINTER

Materially Adds to Supply of Organic Matter in Soil—Loss From Leaching Prevented.

Stable manure applied during the winter on land sown with rye which is to be plowed down next spring, will materially add to the supply of organic matter in the soil. The rye will prevent any loss from leaching.

Theory May Yet Be Proved.

According to one theory, primitive man came to America by a land bridge from the tablelands of Asia, in search of new hunting grounds. "It is not to be inferred," says Professor Wissler, "that the new world native is a direct descendant of the present Asiatic Mongolian, for the differentiation is evidently remote." Is it not possible we shall find that it was the American type that diverged into strains that passed to Asia?—Chicago Examiner.

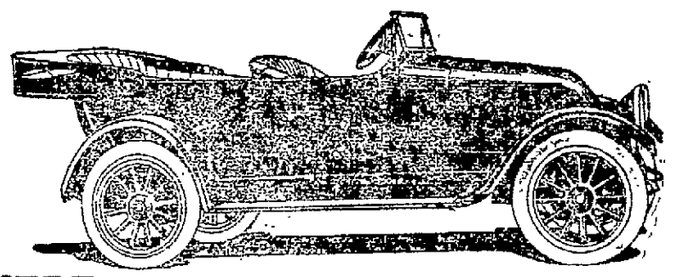
Compliments of the Up-To-Date Co., 305 Wall St.

DON'T TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT--REASON IT OUT YOURSELF WHY EXPERIENCE DEMANDS LIGHT WEIGHT.



THERE are two ways you may get first-hand information as to why the trend today is towards light weight.

One way is to buy a heavy car and find just how expensive the upkeep is. The other way is to know the kind of car the man who discards a heavy car is looking for.

Then you will understand the whys and wherefores back of the popularity of light weight.

Invariably the search for a fine light-weight car leads to the Franklin--the only light-weight car with proven records of unusual economy for gasoline, tires and oil.

A Franklin Owner sticks to the Franklin Car, not alone for economy, but because scientific light weight carries with it safety, reliabilty and comfort.

Again we say---don't take our word for this. You are probably a car owner yourself--or, perhaps, are acquainted with several motorists and can verify the truth of this statement.

We merely suggest that you go thoroughly into this matter of scientific light weight before investing in any car--including the Franklin.
